Gov. Ridge Says Farms Must Be Profitable To Be Sustainable

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Pennsylvania Gov. Tom Ridge addressed the annual Leadership Conference of the National Rural Development Partnership Tuesday morning at the Holiday Inn Lancaster Host. He said that because 3.7 million commonwealth citizens live in rural places, "Rural Pennsylvania is the 'Keystone' of our state."

Ridge said, "The vitality of our small towns is intimately linked to the strength of Pennsylvania life. Now, more than ever, we must work to strengthen our rural communities.

"In rural Pennsylvania, farms are businesses. They support rural families, they support rural jobs, they support rural communities. As businesses and as employers, farms are the backbone of Pennsylvania, and they must be profitable to be sustained."

Ridge said that before he was in public office, he, like other Americans, knew what he wanted from the farm: cold milk, ice cream, cheese of many varieties, good beef, vegetables, and other foods. "I took it (the food supply) for granted," he said. "When I started to represent rural Pennsylvanians in my western Pennsylvania district, I got to see what these men and women did day after day to get that food and fiber to our tables. They overcame enormous obstacles and have a narrow, narrow, narrow margin of profit.

"It almost makes me sick to walk into a grocery store today and pay three or four dollars for a box of cereal when I know the farmer, the primary value provider of that box of cereal, may be getting two or three cents for the grain that is in the box. We consumers are paying for fancy TV ads and fancy boxes, and the toys that are in the box. Yet the men and women, families that are slugging it out every day, don't reap the benefit of all that. They are struggling, and we take advantage of that (farmers' situation).

"We have the most productive ag community in the world right here in this country," Ridge said. "Yet government changes policy every two or three years. We must understand that farmers are operating businesses. They need regulation reform to become profitable, and they desperately need some predictability from government so they can make long- and short-range plans."

The National Rural Development Partnership is a unique, true partnership between 37 governors and the federal government. Each has entered into a memorandum of understanding to create state rural development councils.

The annual meeting brings together local, state, and federal officials and rural development leaders to provide practical information and ideas to be used to advance their local communities.

While in Lancaster County, the group toured the Ruben Weaver farm to observe the application of biosolids as a fertilizer for agricultural crops, the Millport Conservancy to see examples of fencing to limit access of livestock to streams, Oregon Dairy to observe a dairy operation using methane from the herd to generate electricity, and the Nelson Rohrer farm to observe composting.

Other tours and workshops centered on heritage tourism, land use planning and growth management, the Pennsylvania Timber Bridge Initiative, rural health care, and the arts and rural development.

It's Rare, But Poland China Wins Champion Gilt At Allentown

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — "It's rare for a Poland China hog to win supreme gilt here at the fair," said Cheryl Bennecoff, who won supreme on Wednesday at the Allentown Fair.

In the past, said Bennecoff, Landrace, Durocs, and Hampshires have won, but it's the first time in recent memory that Poland China captured the spotlight — and the attention — of the judge, exhibitors, and audience.

Bennecoff, Kutztown, showed a January gilt, Whinney 1-7, from a McWhinney sire out of a Bal Crue dam, for supreme gilt.

Bennecoff said that the sire line she works with on her farm, with husband Todd and family, is a "pretty even and consistent." The Bennecoffs, who have won grand champion gilt at the fair in the past, are showing this week in Syracuse, N.Y. (where Cheryl said they have 24 hogs) and at the World's End Fair in Sullivan. The Bennecoffs are also showing at the Bloomsburg and York fairs and at the State Hampshire/Duroc/Yorkshire sale. They'll also be showing hogs at Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE) and next year's Farm Show.

Also on Wednesday, a Landrace exhibited by Grant A. Lazarus was named supreme champion boar. Grant, 18, is the son of Grant and Linda Lazarus of Busy Acres Farm in Germansville. The Northwestern High School graduate will be showing at the Bloomsburg and York fairs in addition to KILE and Farm Show.

Kelly Lazarus, 17, won grand champion market hog on Thursday at Allentown. Kelly, daughter of Wayne and Grace Lazarus, Germansville, is a senior at Northwestern High School.

Kelly showed a 270-pound hog, the heavyweight champion, a Hampshire/Spotted cross. Grant Lazarus, her cousin, said he picked the pig to show at the fair. Kelly said this is the last fair she'll be showing until the county roundup

SUMMIT STATION (Schuylkill Co.) — Pennwood Farms, owned by Mary Jane and Harvey Stoltzfus of Morgantown, was named premier exhibitor and breeder of the Southeast Pennsylvania Championship Show, August 24 at the Schuylkill County Fairgrounds in Summit Station.

The judge of the show was Steve Wood, of Pennwood Farm in Littlestown.

The grand champion of the show was a senior 3-year-old, Reu Hel Gabriel Surf, owned by the Geisinger family of Reu-hel Farms Inc., of Mohrsville. It is a homebred daughter of Fivebrooks Spririt Gabriel.

The reserve grand champion of the show was also a bred and owned animal, 4-year-old Keystone Mascot Scarlet, owned by Donald Seipt owner of Keystone Farm, of Easton.

The junior champion was a summer yearling, Walnut-Hills Stardust Brook, owned and bred by Dianne Glock, of Walnut-Hills Farm in Mifflin.

The reserve junior champion of the open show was also a summer yearling, Brasspoint Skychief Star, owned by Joshua Hushon, of Delta, bred by Melvin Kolb Inc., Lancaster.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
AUGUST 28, 1996

Grain and soybean bids fell moderately to sharply lower due to favorable weather for harvest and growing crops. Wheat 4 to 7 cents lower. Corn mostly 32 to 47 cents lower. Sorghum 10 to 20 cents lower. Soybeans 7 to 12 cents lower. Wheat harvest in the US spring wheat regions are enjoying ideal conditions. Good export demand overnight, however, limited declines in wheat bids. Favorable growing weather also pressured corn bids lower and the buying basis has dropped substantially throughout the week. Profit taking was noted in both corn and bean pits today. National Egg Market

AUGUST 28, 1996

Prices were generally unchanged with smalls occasionally lower. The market tone was steady for the majority of retail and loose pack eggs. Demand was fair to good. Supplies of extra-large through mediums were adequate or available, and smalls were frequently long. Breaking plants received adequate shell supplies from regular commitments, and some plants ran extended schedules in preparation for the Labor Day long weekend. The light type hen offerings were sufficient for the light to moderate demand.

North Atlantic Shell Eggs

Atlanta, Ga.

PRICES WERE UNCHANGED TO LOWER FOR MEDIUMS AND SMALLS, BALANCE UNCHANGED. THE MARKET TONE WAS GENERALLY STEADY FOR THE LARGER SIZES AND BARELY STEADY TO WEAK FOR THE LIGHTER WEIGHTS. INTERDEALER DEMAND WAS ACTIVE FOR EXTRA LARGE AND CLASS ONES AND RETAIL DEMAND WAS LIGHT TO MODERATE. SUPPLIES WERE ADEQUATE FOR THE LARGER SIZES AND FULLY ADEQUATE AND AVAILABLE FOR THE SMALLER SIZES. BREAKING STOCK SUPPLIES WERE ADEQUATE AND MOST PLANTS PLANNED REDUCED HOLIDAY SCHEDULES.

PHILADELPHIA: PRICES TO RETAILERS, SALES TO VOLUME BUYERS, USDA GRADE A AND GRADE A, WHITE EGGS IN CARTONS, DELIVERED STORE DOOR, EXTRA LARGE .89-.91, LARGE .87-.89, MEDIUM .71-.74.

SEPTEMBER 2

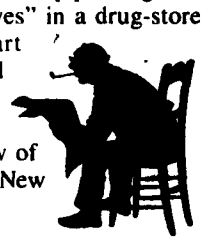
GRANDPARENTS DAY

Fittingly, Grandparents Day this year falls just a day after the birthday of Grandma Moses, an inspiration to anyone who's uneasy about the idea of an "old dog learning new tricks." Grandma Moses, otherwise known as Anna Mary Robertson, was a farmer's wife who lived near Hoosick Falls, New York. In her late seventies, she decided to take up painting, and she displayed one of her "primitives" in a drug-store window in Hoosick Falls. An art collector happened to see it, traced her to her farm, where he bought all 15 of her existing paintings and exhibited them, in 1939, in a show of Contemporary Unknown Painters in New York's new Museum of Modern Art.



Art is long, life is short.

TIP OF THE WEEK

BROCCOLI PASTA

1 pound pasta (spaghetti or fettuccine)
1 medium onion, chopped
3 cloves garlic, pressed
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 head broccoli, chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Cook pasta in boiling water until al dente and drain. While pasta is cooking, sauté the onion and garlic in the olive oil. Add the chopped broccoli and lemon juice, and continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until tender, but not soft. Serve over the drained pasta and garnish with Parmesan cheese, as desired

Makes 4 servings.

THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

September blow soft, till the fruit's in the loft.

The devil is busy in a high wind.

When the wind is in the north, the skillful fisher goes not forth.

When the wind is west, the fish bite best.

There is a good steward abroad when there is a windfrost.

More Than 275 Ultraflo® Systems Have Been Sold In The Northeast Since 1985 - That's Over 22 Million Birds!

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders

FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs per 100 birds/day—over $10,000 per year saved on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year!

TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength. No feed buildup or waste like chain trough

NO HI-GRADING of feed, due to our design. Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs

REMIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended. Chain doesn't, so feed can get stale.

REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders. Easy splicing with auger connector, and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace. Saves money and time year after year

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed. Have hardened steel gears for trouble-free life. Microprocessor control lets you program feeding time to the second

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary. Auger and trough are both warranted 5 full years. Chain feeders are not

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System. Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

Call or send for the list of over 80% top egg producers who have switched to Chore-Time!

OPINION

"Milking The Children" And "Chopped Liver"

If a business continues to sell its products below cost or for only a small, unreasonable profit, eventually the business is forced to go out of business. This, in summary, is how serious the proposal to eliminate the authority of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB) must be viewed.

The state House of Representatives State Government Committee held a public hearing last week at the Lower Merion Township building on the PMMB elimination proposal made by state Rep. Colleen Sheehan, R-King of Purssia in House Bill 2628. In her testimony she called the practice of setting minimum retail prices for fluid milk "corporate welfare."

She sited a 67-cent difference in the retail price of a gallon of milk sold in the same-chain supermarket stores—one in Pennsylvania, the other in Maryland which does not have minimum retail prices for milk. What Rep. Sheehan didn't say is that Maryland is losing dairy farms so fast it makes your head spin because they can't continue to keep producting milk at a loss any longer. We're losing dairy farms in Pennsylvania too. But maybe instead of trying to put Pennsylvania in Maryland's situation, Maryland should get a milk marketing board or some other means whereby they can get their price up to Pennsylvania's and keep their farmers in business so we don't have a major famine in the U.S. like so many other peoples of the world have experienced.

In Pennsylvania there is no farm "cartel" as the opponents of agriculture would like you to believe. But large organizations such as the Philadelphia Public School System right in Rep. Sheehan's own back forty might deserve such a city label. Last year they negotiated a lower price for their school lunch milk from the PMMB. But did they pass this savings to the kids and their families Rep. Sheehan is so concerned about? No! The school district made $1,500,000 in new money from the lower price of their milk to be absorbed unnoticed into the system's huge deficit. The school district makes 100 percent profit based on the cost of the sale of milk to students and in addition the schools get state and federal reimbursements on meals served containing milk.

Turning the tables on Rep. Sheehan's testimony at the hearing, who would you say is really "milking the children," and who is being treated like "chopped liver"? And all these disparaging remarks about agriculture in a state where bottled water sells for nearly three times the price of milk.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Evaluate Alfalfa Fields

It is always difficult for a farmer to decide when to rotate an established alfalfa field into another crop, according to Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent.

The best time is probably in early spring when the plant is starting to break winter dormancy. However, delaying the decision that long may put the grower in a bind for ordering seed, fertilizer, and planning the year's production of crops.

The earlier the decision to rotate a field to another crop is made, the easier the planning is.

Farmers may assess the health of a alfalfa field between the last two harvests for the season by counting the number of stems per square foot. Counting the number of stems rather than the number of plants gives a good indication of the relative health of the plant.

Alfalfa fields with 55 or more stems per square foot produce maximum yields. When the number of stems per square foot declines to 40, the yield potential is reduced by 25 percent. Economic data suggests when yields drop by 25 percent, it is time to rotate the alfalfa field to another crop.

If fields are checked between the last two harvests of the year, marginal fields may be identified for rotation and appropriate plans made.

To Control Weeds In New Alfalfa Seedings

Weed management at establishment or in the seeding year is critical to ensure a healthy, vigorous stand.

However, there are several other cultural control practices that will help forages compete against weeds including proper liming and fertilizing, selection of a well adapted long-lived variety, planting weed-free seed, selecting a site with good soil drainage, and avoiding poorly drained fields. Others include selection of a disease-resistant or disease-tolerant variety, timely control of insect and weed pests, and following a good cutting schedule during the life of the stand.

Dr. Bill Curran, Penn State Agronomy Department, gives the following guidelines on weed competition with alfalfa.

First, most of the damage from weeds in forages is from winter annual weeds in early spring. Second, the grass weeds are more competitive against legumes than are broadleaf weeds. Third, any weed which emerges at the same time as the alfalfa will usually create more problems. Fourth, the weeds which emerge during the first 60 days after planting will cause more competition than weeds which emerge after 60 days. However, late emerging weeds may influence forage quality.

To Know Alfalfa Weed Control Products

One of the most effective times to use a herbicide in an alfalfa field is in the seeding year. After that, alfalfa should be able to compete with weeds other than winter annual weeds, such as chickweed, mustard, and a few others.

Chemical control of weeds in legumes is easiest in alfalfa seeded without grass. Two products, Balan and Eptam, are labeled for use on alfalfa seeded alone as a preplant incorporated material. They both do a good job of controlling annual grasses and some broadleaf weeds.

Balan is slightly effective against chickweed while Eptam is better on the control of winter annuals such as mustards, henbit, and quackgrass.

If you are unsure of the weeds which may become a problem, a wait-and-see approach may be used.

Several good post emergence herbicides are available for annual grass and broadleaf weed control. For a listing of products that may be used, consult the Penn State Agronomy Guide.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HOW GOOD IS "THE BEST"?
September 1, 1996

HOW GOOD IS 'THE BEST'?
September 1, 1996

Background Scripture:
II Kings 18 through 20
Devotional Reading:
Deuteronomy 10:12-22

Apparently, the writers of the biblical books that chronicle the kingdoms of Israel and Judah held most of the kings of these two nations in no higher esteem than many of us view the politicians of today. One after another they are condemned: "And he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord. . ." (II Kings 21:2a). This was a reference to Judah's King Manasseh, who succeeded Hezekiah, but it was also said of most of those who came before and after him.

One outstanding exception is Hezekiah, who became King of Judah at the age of 25 and ruled for 29 years: "And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord. . ." (II Kings 18:3). And : "He trusted in the Lord the God of Israel; so that there was none like him among all the kings of Judah after him, nor among those who were before him" (18:5).

What were the fruits of Hezekiah's trust in the Lord? First, he reformed Judah's religion, destroying the pagan idols and places of worship. "And the Lord was with him; wherever he went forth, he prospered. He rebelled against the king of Assyria, and would not serve him. He smote the Philistines as far as Gaza and its territory, from watchtower to fortified city" (18:7,8).

A PRAYER ANSWERED

II Kings provides us with two signal events from the life of Hezekiah. The first is the miraculous salvation of Jerusalem from the army of mighty Assyria. Having already subdued Judah's cousin, Israel, Shalamaneser, king of Assyria, began to invade Judah and capture its cities. Knowing that Assyria was too much militarily for Judah, Hezekiah tried to placate them by paying enormous tribute to him.

But Shalamaneser wasn't satisfied with most of Judah and its treasure; he also wanted Jerusalem. Shalamaneser calls upon Hezekiah to realize his hopeless position and surrender the city. His approach is mockingly arrogant: "Come now, make a wager . . . I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able on your part to set riders upon them" (18:23). So Hezekiah prays and consults Isaiah the prophet who tells him not to be afraid because God himself will cause Shalamaneser to return to Assyria without attacking Jerusalem. He also prophecies the violent death of the Assyrian king.

The second major event is Hezekiah's miraculous healing from a sickness that had already been pronounced as terminal. Despite this prophetic prognosis, Hezekiah prayed for healing and Isaiah came to him with the good news that God was granting him another 15 years of life!

NOT PERFECT

But, for all Hezekiah's virtue and reform, he was not a perfect man. He made some mistakes and the last view that we get of him is disappointing. Following his recovery, Babylonian envoys come to visit him. Flattered and eager to impress them, he shows them virtually every treasure which Judah still possessed.

What was wrong with this and why did he incur Isaiah's displeasure? Because it would seem that his deliverance by God had made him proud instead of humble. His pride rested upon material treasures, not faith in the Lord. So Isaiah tells him that Judah would be carried away into Babylon and his own sons would suffer humiliation. But all this would happen after the death of Hezekiah!

And that's where this otherwise admirable king makes a disappointing response: "'The word of the Lord which you have spoken is good.' For he thought, 'Why not if there will be peace and security in my days?'" (20:19). Informed of this great disaster to Judah and his own family, he rejoices that at least it won't happen to him!

Even the best of us are anything but perfect.

Franklin 4-H Pig Clubs Hold Show, Sale

GREENCASTLE (Franklin Co.) — The 54th annual Franklin County 4-H Pig Club show and sale was held at the Greencastle Livestock Market on Saturday, August 10, with 86 head of 4-H project animals shown and sold. The 86 head of pork-on-the-hoof totaled 19,440 lbs. and sold for a total sale value of $17,337. The 4-H pigs averaged 226 lbs. per head and sold for an average price of 89 cents a pound.

The Grand Champion pig, weighing 230 lbs. was shown by Jason Diem, Willow Hill and was purchased by the Greencastle Livestock Market for $3.20 a pound. The Reserve Champion shown by brother Eric Diem, weighing 250 lbs. was purchased by Hatfield Quality Meats, Hatfield, PA for $2.00 a pound.

In the Pen-of-two class, Champion honors went to Adam Haldaman, Greencastle, with a pair averaging 247 lbs. that were purchased by Craigs Hog Buying Station, Greencastle, for $1.05 a pound. Reserve Champion honors went to Justin Conner, Chambersburg, and averaged 198 lbs. and were purchased by Barvinchack Chiropractic, Greencastle, for .90 cents per pound.

In the Junior Fitting and Showing class, Anna Ruth Kent, St. Thomas was declared Grand Champion while brother Timothy Kent walked away with Reserve Champion honors for the second year in a row. In the Senior division, John Greenawalt, Amberson was Grand Champion while Justin Conner, Chambersburg was declared Reserve Champion.

The show was judged by Henry Gruber, a Penn State alumnus, and pork producer from New Tripoli, PA. Roundup trophies were sponsored by York Farm Credit ACA, of Chambersburg while ribbons and rosettes were provided by the Franklin County 4-H Development Fund.

This, the 54th Annual Show and Sale essentially concludes this years 4-H Pig Club program here in Franklin County. 4-H is the youth program of Penn State Cooperative Extension. This club and all 4-H programs are available to youth regardless of race, color, national origin or handicap. For more information call the Franklin County Extension Office at 263-9226.

Grants Available

HARRISBURG (Centre Co.) — Two grant programs for environmental projects are available through the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts, Inc. (PACD) to help Pennsylvanians take measures to improve water quality.

The Pennsylvania Nonpoint Source Pollution Prevention Mini-Project Education Program is funded by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protections's (DEP) Bureau of Land and Water Conservation and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Section 319 (EPA). Funding for the Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Mini-Project Education Program is provided by the DEP and its Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Program. Environmental, civic, and community organizations and individuals are encouraged to apply for mini-grant funds.

Eligible projects are awarded grants up to $750. Applications are available now and must be returned postmarked by Sept. 23. Special consideration will be given for projects focusing on pollution prevention. For more information or to receive an application, contact the PACD at (717) 236-1006.

Local Businesses Purchase Chester Champions

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.) — Thrifty Pallet Co., New Holland Sales Stable, Herr Foods, Dr. Frank Barch, Fulton Bank, The People's Bank of Oxford, Good Food Inc., and Wayne Weidman purchased the champion lambs shown at the 14th annual Chester County 4-H Market Lamb Show and Sale recently at the West Goshen Community Fair.

Twenty-seven lambs were shown and sold, averaging $2.36 a pound, well above the current market price of $1 a pound. The judge for the event was Rod Gilbert, the shepherd at Delaware Valley College.

Grand champion lamb, exhibited by Kevin Smoker of Paresburg, was purchased by Thrifty Pallet Company for $5 a pound. Chris Swartzentruber of Glenmoore exhibited the reserve grand champion lamb which was purchased by New Holland Sales Stable for $3.50 a pound.

Dr. Frank Barch, Coatesville, purchased the champion light heavyweight lamb shown by Kasey McAllister for $2.25 a pound. Herr Foods, Inc. Nottingham, purchased the champion middleweight shown by Jessica Paddock of Oxford for $3 a pound.

Rachel Smoker had a great day, exhibiting the champion lightweight lamb that was purchased by Fulton Bank of Oxford for $2.05 a pound and the reserve champion middleweight lamb that was purchased by Good Food Inc. of Honey Brook for $2 a pound.

The People's Bank of Oxford purchased the reserve champion light heavyweight for $2.60 a pound that was shown by Adam Byrne of Nottingham. Wayne Weidman of New Holland purchased the reserve champion lightweight lamb exhibited by Jason Wagner of Spring City for $2.35 a pound.

Jason donated the entire purchase price of this 75-pound lamb to the 4-H Center Inc. Building Fund. Ken Smoker was the volume buyer of the evening.

Kevin Smoker of Parkesburg exhibited the grand champion market lamb. The 125-pound lamb was purchased by Thrifty Pallet Company, West Chester, for $5 a pound. Bill Fairbairn, proprietor, and his children Caitlin and Ryan are pictured.

CAROLYN MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford Co.) — Nobledale Farm topped the competition as they captured both the premier breeder and exhibitor banners at the 11th annual District IV Jersey Parish Show held Aug. 19.

Judge Chris Hill of Maryland sorted through the 90 entries to select Bren-Delite Daffodil, a 5-year-old owned by Brenda Robson Hodder, as the grand champion.

Following closely in his pattern of long, clean dairy cows was his reserve grand champion, Nobledale Juno Wonder, owned by Nobledale Farm.

Named junior champion of the show was Ty-Ly-View June Dawn, a summer yearling owned by Paul and Carolyn Moyer. The reserve junior champion of the day was fall calf Bren-Delite Autumn, owned by Brenda Robson Hodder.

In the youth division, senior 2-year-old Normandell Jedd Payge, owned by Cathleen Norman, commanded attention as she was named the grand champion. Following her in the reserve grand champion slot was Corissa Coolbaugh's junior 2-year-old, Corissa's Elizabeth Esther.

The junior champion of the youth division was Kim Barker's Jer-Sweet Jenks Laurel-Lea, a summer yearling. In the reserve position was Kent Barker's fall calf, Jer-Sweet Malcolm Gems Sapphire.

Delaware Valley Shows Allentown Supreme Champion Dairy

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Delaware Valley College showed the supreme champion dairy cow and dairy bull of the Greater Allentown Fair Wednesday at the Allentown Fairgrounds.

Both the supreme bull and cow were Holsteins from the school's herd, and were exhibited by students. Delaware Valley College students have been showing at Allentown for years.

The Allentown Fair dairy show is organized differently than most shows. The pedigree of the animal is not publicized or readily available, and they do not publish a show catalog, as most dairy cattle shows make available.

The supreme cow was a 4-year-old, Doll, and was shown by student Todd Webb. The bull was a calf shown by student John Tighe.

Judge for the show was Cathy Pavelski, Malvern, who works for Accelerated Genetics and who grew up on a Holstein farm. As a 4-Her, she won a national title in dairy cattle judging.

In almost every show, Pavelski complimented the exhibitors on the quality of cattle, even if, in some age classes, there was no competition.

While selecting a supreme champion from among the grand champions of the Brown Swiss, Ayrshire, Guernsey, Jersey, Holstein and Milking Shorthorn grand champions, Pavelski said she acknowledged that there could only be one supreme.

However, Pavelski said that a junior 3-year-old Jersey, Top-O-Hill Juno Tonya, owned by Mildred Seeds of Downingtown, was the unofficial judge's selection for reserve supreme champion of the show.

Holstein

In the Holstein show, Shannon Semmel of Schnecksville showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, an aged cow, Cracle, for Jerry Fleck. Cracle also won best udder of the show.

Delaware Valley showed the junior and reserve junior Holsteins in the show. The junior champion was an intermediate calf, Barb, exhibited by Tighe, while the reserve junior champion was a senior yearling, Margo, shown by Webb.

Ayrshire

In the Ayrshire breed, Amy Wolfgang, Bechtelsville, showed the senior and grand champion, 4-year-old Princess, while brother Seth showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, a 3-year-old, Johnson.

Seth Wolfgang also showed the junior champion, a senior calf, Sugar Foot. Heath Miller showed the reserve junior champion.

Brown Swiss

In the Brown Swiss show, Russell Miller showed the senior and grand champion, an aged cow Donna, while Jonathan Sterner, Bechtelsville, showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, a 4-year-old, Cookie.

The junior champion Brown Swiss was a senior yearling, Memphil Del, owned by Shannon Semmel, while Sterner showed the reserve junior champion, a junior calf, Dandy.

Guernsey

In the Guernsey show, Karen Wolfgang showed the senior and grand champion, a 4-year-old Ember, and the reserve senior and reserve grand champion, a 3-year-old, Jolene.

Karen also showed the junior champion, an intermediate yearling. There was no reserve junior champion Guernsey.

Jersey

In addition to Mildred Seeds' grand champion Jersey, she also showed the reserve senior champion, an aged cow, Theda.

Erica Lloyd, of Pottstown, who has been working with Seeds recently on the show circuit, exhibited the junior champion, a senior yearling, Tammy. Lloyd was showing for Tarik Gaffney, who had been showing Top-O-Hill Jerseys to championships for several years.

Milking Shorthorn

There were five animals exhibited in the Milking Shorthorn show, and only one adult animal. Sam Yoder showed the junior champion and grand champion, a summer yearling, Pine Sedge Shake Rattle and Roll.

Lizzie Moser showed the other champions — a 3-year-old senior champion, Courtney, that was reserve grand champion, and a junior yearling that was named reserve junior champion.

Helping to distribute awards was Jennifer Harris, of Germansville, the dairy princess for Northampton and Lehigh counties. She also exhibited Jerseys.

Leib Has Best Doe, A LaMancha, At Allentown

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Holding onto Khatango was easy, because Billy George Leib had previous champion experience at Allentown Fair's goat show.

That experience paid off when the LaMancha 4-year-old milker won best doe in show on Wednesday at the Allentown Fair.

For Billy, 15, son of Bob and Suzie Leib, Mechanicsburg, the honor was special because it officially ends his goat showing career, according to his mom.

Billy also had a banner day, picking up LaMancha and also Nubian grand champion honors as well as champion fitting and showing at Allentown.

Billy, who helps with his family's Shepherd's Crook Farm, has had many grand champion sheep through the years, with banner years at the state Farm Show. But he has also been showing goats throughout the fair seasons. He has shown at Shippensburg and in Montgomery County, Md., as well as the Pennsylvania Fair in Bensalem.

A sophomore at Cumberland Valley High School, Billy is a member of his school FFA and is a 4-H'er.

In all, there were a total of 176 animals and 22 exhibitors at the goat show. Judge was John Pfeiler, Shartsville, N.Y.

Following is a partial list of show placings.

Northeast DHIA Congratulates Winners

ITHACA, N.Y. — For several years, the Northeast Dairy Herd Improvement Association has participated in Pennsylvania's Ag Progress Days — one of the premier farm shows in the Northeast. The booth and exhibit provide another way for the Cooperative to communicate their commitment to provide good service throughout Pennsylvania and the entire nine-state service area of the Northeast.

This year the Northeast DHIA exhibit featured a "guess the protein" contest. Several bales of hay were on display and participants gave their best guess as to protein percent on an "as fed" basis. Several hundred guesses were made.

Northeast DHIA congratulates these winners and has awarded them a free forage analysis: Teresa Feidt of Pleasant Hill Farms in Millersburg; Charles Stoffer of Port Royal and George Swanson of Kersey.

Superior Broad Spectrum Disease Control With Dividend®
Starts Your Wheat In The Right Direction.
- Dividend seed treatment stops seed-borne scab, seed-borne septoria, seed rots, loose smut and Pythium*.
- Dividend treated wheat results in fast root development and quick seedling emergence, enhancing overall stand establishment.
- Dividend treated wheat has been shown in trials to increase yields over untreated wheat and wheat treated with other seed treatments.
- Dividend is safe to your crop–plant early or late, no-till or conventional tillage.
- Dividend offers the best worker safety profile available for seed treatments. It's less irritating to skin and eyes than other standard seed treatments–with less dust-off.

Agriculture Student Loan Forgiveness Applications Now Available

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) recently announced that applications for the Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Program, a program to help recent college graduates with degrees related to agriculture and veterinary medicine repay their student loans, are now available.

The deadline for applying for the program is November 15.

"The Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Program contributes to the professionalism of Pennsylvania's largest industry, agriculture, and the health of its animal products," said PHEAA President and Chief Executive Officer Michael H. Hershock.

The program will repay up to $2,000 per year in PHEAA student loans for each year the borrower is employed full time in the operation of a family farm or a family farm corporation, or as a veterinarian who practices on large agricultural animals. Borrowers are limited to a lifetime maximum of $10,000.

Applicants must hold a degree in a field related to agricultural products or veterinary medicine from a Pennsylvania school or college and have begun work in their chosen field after July 1, 1991 when the law establishing the program went into effect.

Loans eligible for repayment are those incurred by borrowers to finance their higher education through the Federal Stafford Student Loan Program administered by PHEAA. Personal and commercial loans are not eligible.

Family farms or corporations owned by a member of the immediate family must be used for the production, for commercial purposes, of agricultural products such as field crops, fruits, vegetables, horticultural specialties, cattle and poultry, timber and wood products, aquatic plants and animals, and products derived from these categories. Persons working on farms and corporations that have agricultural interests but do not devote 75 percent or more of their assets to the business of agriculture are not eligible for the program.

Veterinarians must be certified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to sign health certificates allowing interstate commerce of agricultural animals and animal products and be able to certify regulatory testing for contagious diseases such as bovine tuberculosis and brucellosis.

Applications may be obtained from members of the Pennsylvania General Assembly or directly from PHEAA. Telephone (717) 720-3600 or write: Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Program, P.O. Box 8114, Harrisburg, PA 17105-8114.

Huntingdon County Dairy Cattle Enthusiasts Compete

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — The Huntingdon County Open Class Dairy Show took place on August 13th at the Huntingdon County Fairgrounds with Paul Knight as the Holstein judge and Dean Daubert as the colored breeds judge.

Naomi Speer's big, white Holstein aged cow became the favorite for the judge when he selected her as grand champion.

My-Favorite Vanguard Kandi has won her share of champion ribbons for Speerette Farms in Blairs Mills. Reserve grand champion went to a 4-year-old from Singbrook Farms.

Tara Kocher won both junior grand and junior reserve grand champion ribbons with her fall yearling and summer yearling. In the youth show the day before, Charann Foster's junior 2-year-old was selected as supreme champion of the show.

F.O.4 NFMS $1

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Rex F. Lothrop today announced a producer nonfat milk solids price of $1 per pound for July 1996.

The weighted average differential base milk price was $1.32 per hundredweight and the price per pound of butterfat was $1.6798. The producer NFMS price was up 1 cent from last year while the base differential was unchanged.

The standardized base milk price per hundredweight for producer milk with the market average nonfat milk solids content and 3.5 percent butterfat would have been $15.79 and the excess price would have been $14.47.

This represents a base price increase of $3.24 per hundredweight from the previous year. The excess price increased $3.24 from last July.

The nonfat milk solids price, applicable to handler payments, was $1.0086 per pound for the month, up 1.23 cents from last July. The weighted average price for July was $15.78 per hundredweight and would have been approximately 18 cents lower without the effect of the Class III-A price.

Mr. Lothrop said that producer receipts totaled 472. million pounds during July, a decrease of 23.2 million pounds from last July and the average daily delivery of 3,150 pounds per propucer decreased 96 pounds or 3 percent from a year earlier.

Total nonfat milk solids production for the month was 40.5 million pounds. This represents an average NFMS test of 8.59 percent, up from 8.52 percent last July.

Class I producer milk totaled 224.1 million pounds and was up 10.2 million pounds, or 4.7 percent from last July.

Class I milk accounted for 47.47 percent of total producer milk receipts during the month, compared with 43.20 percent in July 1995.

Base milk accounted for 93.88 percent of total producer milk receipts in July compared with 93.39 percent last year. The average butterfat test of producer milk was 3.57 percent, up from 3.5 percent last July.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 164.3 million pounds during July, a decrease of 10.4 percent from a year earlier, after adjustment to elmininate variation due to calendar composition.

New Corn, Soybean Varieties Shown At Field Day

MT. JOY (Lancaster Co.) — A large crowd gathered at the corn and soybean research plots of Hoffman Seeds, Inc., along Route 772 between Mt. Joy and Manheim Thursday. Of special interest to the visitors was the bt corn that kills corn bores when they eat the leaves and stalks. With 40,000 acres of this new type corn in the fields this year, farmers have also seen better standability and higher yields. George Ewing, Jr., Hoffman, CEO, said it is incredible how effective this bt corn is. "You can walk the fields and not see a corn bore," Ewing said.

"And this is only the tip of the iceberg. What we will see in the next five or six years will put the present corn and soybeans to shame.

Another test plot showed the first stages of a new high oil corn that will result in kernels with 12 to 15 percent protein where normal corn has 6 percent protein. The male pollinators were mixed in the plot among sterile female plants to develop the line.

Barry Hoke, key accounts manager, said that later the bt gene will be added to the line and within several years this new corn will start to be available. In poultry, dairy, or swine, the new high protein corn will save input costs. Documented research shows that in corn silage this new corn will return $248 more per acre. This corn also has softer kernel covers, better digestability, little pass through in cattle, and no need for roller mills.

"Really it is the first new technology in 75 years in our industry," Ewing said. "The last new technology was hybrid corn. And that really started at the turn of the centery. But it was 1935 before it was accepted and in the 40's before it was used everywhere. Now in 1996 it is fun to be in on the start of something new again.

A catered lunch was served to everyone who attended.

Allentown Sheep Exhibitors Parade 400 Animals At Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — One of the state's premier sheep shows began on Thursday morning and continued Friday, with more than 400 animals and 58 exhibitors entered in the show.

Winners of six breeds were announced Thursday afternoon during the two-day Allentown Sheep Show at the fairgrounds.

Also on Thursday, sheep showmanship winners were announced. They are Billy George Leib, who also won champion of the goat show Wednesday, who won champion showman at the sheep show. Reserve of the sheep show went to Kelly Glaser.

Champion fitter at Thursday's sheep show went to Lee Gauker. Reserve went to Laura Miller.

On Thursday, Cheviot champion ram and ewe went to Betty Jane Koehler, Allentown. Amanda Miller, Mertztown, won grand champion Southdown ram and ewe. Kelly Glaser, Limekiln, won champion Corriedale ram and ewe. And Samantha Gressley, Fogelsville, won grand champion Targhee ram and ewe.

Also, grand champion Suffolk ram and ewe went to the Torok Family from Pittstown, N.J. Grand champion Tunis ram and ewe went to Jaeme L. Griffin, Whitehouse, N.J.

The supreme champion ram and ewe were announced on Friday afternoon and weren't available as of Friday morning presstime.

Judge for the show was Dick Kuzemchak, Penn State shepherd.

AG PROGRESS DAYS PROVES SUCCESSFUL

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

Staff from PA DHIA had the opportunity to greet members and answer questions they may have concerning any of the reports that PA DHIA provides. Along with all of this, the staff corresponded with some potential new members whom would like a visit from a staff member to explain the programs that are available.

By being on the somatic cell count program a dairyman may be able to increase profits by $2,400, by dropping one code (4 to 3). At the same time the somatic cell report offers precent bulk tank infection contamination which means the report can pinpoint which cow or cows may be creating a problem.

On the other hand, a dairyman may save $250 per year in semen alone for a 50 cow herd using $10/unit semen by reducing breeding services per cow from 2.2 to 1.7 This information is all found on the reproductive report.

The all new performance economics program can be used in monitoring profits. Currently PA DHIA has a limited offer on this program which can provide the member with a wealth of financial information. This information includes cost to produce 100 lb. of milk, individual cow profitability, daily profit per cow, rolling net herd income and rolling net income per cow. On the other side of the spectrum, heifer costs can also be monitored to include cost to put a 2 year old in the milking string, cost per heifer per day in each group or pen, cost per month per heifer, cost per year per heifer, cost per group or pens per month and total projected annual cost of your heifer program. This program allows the dairyman to closely monitor and to make management decisions based on hard actual financial facts. The all new performance economics program, which is the first in the nation, costs $25 for an initial set-up fee and is only $15 for monthly updates.

Innovative plans are also available for dairymen who may want a program that is not currently available. By contacting Dean Amick, director of field operations, members may apply for one of these programs.

Milk urea nitrogen testing is available at only $.15 per cow as long as the member is on a current testing program. Milk urea nitrogen testing is a valuable tool to add to the information arsenal of dairymen and their consultants. While PA DHIA serves its own membership with this service an additional number of cows and herds are being tested from other DHIA associations in the North and Southeast. PA DHIA is the only dairy records processing center that collects MUN analysis results and disseminates the data for research and field use. The processing center is now hooked into the Internet and veterinarians, nutritionists, researchers, educators and dairy farmers can now download MUN information through the Internet.

This information as well as any problems or concerns was addressed at ag progress days. If you have any questions concerning any of the programs, please feel free to contact PA DHIA at 1-800-DHI-TEST.

Sheep Junior Show Draws Hundreds

FRANKLIN, Ind. — The third annual All American Jr. Show took place here on July 5-7.

This junior show brought more than 1,200 sheep, and 400 exhibitors from 23 states were represented at the Johnson County Fairgrounds.

Ten different breeds of sheep were shown in both breeding and market classes, wool contests, and the ever-popular 3-on-3 basketball challenge. This fun-filled weekend is designed to be educational, family-oriented, and competitive.

Kyle Fleener of Robesonia was a competitor in the Southdown division. In the promotional contests, logo division, kyle receive 1st place.

Blair Named Penn State Dairy Industry Relations Director

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — N. Alan Bair has been named director of dairy industry relations in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, effective August 19. His position will be supported by the college and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Bair most recently was director of member and public relations for Genex, formerly the Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, in Lancaster, a position he held since 1978.

In his new role, Bair's primary responsibility will be to provide leadership to the Pennsylvania Dairy Stakeholder's effort. He will serve as facilitator to bring together the diverse elements of the industry and find common ground to increase the viability and expansion of the dairy industry.

Bair also will be responsible for coordinating the marketing of Penn State's Dairy Management and Profitability (Dairy-MAP) program, a series of workshops designed to help producers use general business management techniques to improve the profitability of dairy farming.

"Mr. Bair will be filling an important need for our dairy programming," says Dr. Dan Hagen, interim head of the dairy and animal science department. "He will provide assistance and guidance for all stakeholders in the dairy industry in the commonwealth."

Bair's principal office will be in Middletown, but he also will maintain an office at Penn State's University Park Campus.

Bair, who grew up and worked on his family's dairy farm, has extensive experience in planning and developing educational programs and events for the general public, farmers, agricultural professionals and youth. He has broad formal and informal teaching experience in dairy production, biological sciences and genetics, agricultural issues and cooperative business practices.

Bair earned his bachelor's degree in dairy production in 1967 and his master's degree in animal science in 1971, both from Penn State.

Before joining Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, Bair was an extension agent for Penn State Cooperative Extension in Lancaster County from 1971 to 1978. From 1969 to 1971, he managed a histology research laboratory involved in food preservation for combat meals for the U.S. Army.

More recently, Bair has served as a project leader for Volunteers for Overseas Cooperative Assistance (VOCA) in Mesobereny, Hungary in 1995, advising cooperative officials on organizational structure and long-range planning.

Bair is a member of the Pennsylvania Council of Cooperatives (PCC), and served as president from 1993 to 1996. He also has chaired the member relations committee of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

He served as president of Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences Alumni Society from 1989 to 1991. He also has been active in the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Animal Breeders.

Farmland Trust Director Believes In People, Stewardship

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — Thomas D. Stouffer has become the new executive director of the Lancaster Farmland Trust, it was announced this week.

A 1962 graduate of Elizabethtown High School and a 1966 graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Stouffer spoke to Lancaster Farming on Wednesday about his appointment by the Trust's board of directors.

Stouffer replaces Karen Weiss, acting director, who will resume her position as director of land preservation. Weiss had assumed duties of acting director after the resignation of Alan Musselman, previous director.

Raised in West Donegal Township, Lancaster County, Stouffer said that serving as director of the Trust provided him an opportunity for service and stewardship of farmland preservation in the county.

"The idea of stewardship is extremely important," he said. Stouffer admitted he has a passion for the preservation of farmland. He said that while the county has suffered increasing development pressure and has expanded through the years since he was a boy, "the inherent beauty of farmland is still there."

Stouffer was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1966. After graduation, he was a student in the Fulbright program at the University of Vienna in Vienna, Austria. He received his master of arts degree in international relations from Salve Regina University, Newport, R.I. in 1988.

In 1995, Stouffer retired as a colonel from the U.S. Marine Corps after more than 29 years of military service. Upon his retirement, he was awarded the Defense Superior Service Medal.

As a colonel in the Marine Corps, Stouffer served as the barracks commander at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. He learned that people are a vital resource to any organization. Like farmland, people are "special and come first," he said, looking at his new position as a "leadership opportunity — and more as a stewardship opportunity."

Stouffer worked as regional director in the department of banking and finance in West Palm Beach, Fla., with the office of the comptroller. He was responsible for managing, directing, and providing media contact for department activities and operations in a 12-county region.

According to Lancaster Farmland Trust, Stouffer brings this experience as well as his extensive background in resource management to the position of executive director. He said he was interested in working for a private organization such as the Trust, which is nonprofit and is entirely member supported.

Stouffer was born in Dauphin County and moved to Rheems in the fifth grade. While living in West Donegal Township as a child, Stouffer said he lived near the Garber Farm. Through the years, he saw how much the county was expanding as a bedroom community but wanted to preserve the rich farming heritage unique to the area.

Stouffer recently returned to Mount Joy, from where his wife, Deanna, was raised. They have raised three children, Dean, 23, Craig, 21, and Charissa, 20.

As regional director for the Florida Office of Comptroller, Stouffer said he enjoyed the transition, working with the military (which is vertically integrated) to his position as regional director, which was more horizontally integrated. He indicated that he agrees with whoever quoted President Dwight Eisenhower, who said he had more control and power over a few men as platoon commander than as president of the United States.

As regional director, what was required was more diplomacy, more cooperation, more of those skills necessary to work with the resources of a horizontally integrated agency.

Near Miami, there was farmland preservation continuing — mostly orchards who wanted to preserve the farmland.

Stouffer showed Lancaster Farming a newspaper clipping from Sept. 1, 1966, a story by Sam Christensen with a headline, "Farms Threatened By Urban Growth." Even at that time, the trust board of directors — composed of attorneys, agribusiness people, corporate leaders, educators, farm managers, former legislators, and other professionals — recognized the need to preserve farms. Now there are 25 members on the board.

Stouffer's goals are to continue to work to preserve farmland, offering the services of the Trust as an additional method to the state's ag preservation board. While there is a waiting list for the statewide program, which provides payment for signing away development rights, there is no list for the Lancaster Farmland Trust.

Thomas D. Stouffer has become the new executive director of the Lancaster Farmland Trust, it was announced this week.

Stouffer intends to meet with the board to review their long-range objectives. He intends to work to preserve farmland in contiguous plots. Stouffer said he will continue in his education efforts to foster appreciation of and cultivate interest and support in farmland preservation.

Pennwood Farm Wins Premier Breeder, Exhibitor

The junior champions of the open show were also the junior champion of the youth division.

The senior champion of the youth division was a senior 2-year-old owned by Timothy Vail of Myerstown. His owned and bred Dalee-Bred Councselor Posie has been winning several ribbons for the youth in recent weeks.

The reserve senior champion of the youth division was a senior 3-year-old, Fantasyland Lincoln Image, owned by Elliot Heffner, of Robesonia.

There were about 95 animals exhibited at the show.

Open House Sept. 21 At New Bolton

KENNETT SQUARE (Chester Co.) — New Bolton Center, the rural campus and large animal facility of the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine, will host an open house on Sept. 21 to feature the large animal hospital and the small animal hospital.

Various exhibits which reflect the school's commitment to teaching, research, and clinical care will be on display for the occasion. The public is invited to view the George D. Widener Hospital for large animals with its surgical suites, pool recovery, ultrasound, scintigraphy, neonatal intensive care, and intensive care units for large animals. The small animal hospital will be represented by the Bloodmobile and emergency service and intensive care unit exhibits.

New this year and of special interest to children will be a "Stuffed Animal ★M★A★S★H★ Tent." Young ones may bring their tattered, torn, one-eyed stuffed animal friends to this tent where a student surgical team work hard to restore the beloved stuffed pal to its original healthy looks. The tent will stimulate a real surgery and personnel will explain the procedures and treatments.

In addition, several demonstrations will highlight the day:

• "Stop, Paws and Run K-9's" (S.P.A.R.K.S.) dog "agility" demonstration sponsored by the Dog Training Club of Chester County where dogs go over, under, and around obstacles racing against the clock.

• Large animal display illustrating the different types and breeds of engines, large and small ruminants, and farm birds.

• An exhibit featuring different breeds of cattle organized by The Southeastern Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association.

• Homestead Llamas of Davidsonville, Md. with eight of their llamas so the public can test their abilities on a llama obstacle course. The course will include barriers and jumps similar to what you would encounter backpacking with a llama.

• A working dog from The Delaware State Police Canine Unit.

• Dogs that make a disabled person's life more independent demonstrated by Canine Partners For Life of Cochranville, PA.

• IAMS Canine Puissance features jumping competitions in three all-breed categories (small, medium, and large). Contestants are the reigning champions from IAMS Canine Puissance held at Winterthur's Point-to-Point and the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup.

• Rex and Rudy, two Durham oxen owned by Dr. Barbara Corson, illustrating the power and strength needed by early settlers to explore and utilize the land.

• The Jeffords Treadmill exhibition demonstrates how veterinarians in the Sports Medicine Section of the Widener Hospital use the high-speed treadmill to diagnose performance problems in equine patients (and, yes we are putting real horses on the treadmill for the public to watch).

• Back by popular demand at the New Bolton Center Open House is the six horse draft team from Rovenolt Stables, Turbotville, for an exhibition of hitching up and driving. The six-horse hitch consists of six black Percheron geldings ranging in height from 17 to 18 hands high (5 feet 8 inches to 6 feet tall measuring from the ground to their withers, the area at the base of the neck) each weighing more than 2,000 pounds. This hitch is owned and operated by Alfred and Donna Rovenolt of Turbotville, who have won the team hitch class for the last three years at The Pennsylvania Farm Show and first prize for the "Commercial Class" at the Devon Horse Show this past May.

The Open House is free and open to the public. Open House is the only time during the year when the center and hospital are open to visitors. New Bolton Center is located in the rolling hills of Chester County on Route 926 near Kennett Square.

Broken Arrow Ranch Joins Association

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Broken Arrow Ranch, Holtwood, Pa. is a new member of the American Angus Association, reported Dick Spader, executive vice president of the national organization.

The American Angus Association, with more than 29,000 active adult and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on over 12 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Lancaster DHIA Herd Comparisons for July

JAY MYLIN
Manager

Lancaster DHIA data shows some interesting comparison for July 1995 to July 1996. Favorable weather in July 1996 helped production and SCC. Standardized 150-day production is up 1.4 lbs. over July 1995. Persistency index is 4% higher showing cows are holding their lactation curves very well in July 1996. Days in milk is still running a little higher showing the effects of last summer and fall breeding problems.

Cost to feed a milking cow shows an increase of $.75 per day more. Feed cost per 100-lb. milk shipped out of your tank is $5.95. It takes 5¼ lbs. of milk more per day to cover the increased feed cost from last year. The big positive in our favor is the increase in milk price of $1.71 from July 1995. The higher milk and higher feed cost show $.35 per cow higher income over feed cost.

Hodder Shows Grand At Northeast Holstein Championship

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

TROY (Bradford C.) — Time seemed to stand still for two cows and their owners at the 23rd annual Northeast Pennsylvania Holstein Championship Show as judge Donald Cook designated the grand and reserve grand champion of the show.

For the second year in a row, Bren-Delite CV Seirra, owned by Brenda Robson Hodder, was named the grand champion of the show and Lynn and Bonnie Miller's Royal Haven Inspire Quill was designated the reserve grand champion.

The two animals were selected as champions from the 100 animals exhibited from throughout Northeast Pennsylvania.

Among the heifers, Lynn and Bonnie Miller's fall calf, Royal-Haven Stardust Baton was designated junior champion of the show.

Stephanie Ulmer's winter yearling, Bransdale Counselor Jewel, was designated the reserve junior champion of the open show and the junior champion of the youth show.

Following Ulmer's calf in the youth division was Trisha McIlwain's fall yearling, Cha-Do Stardust Twinkle-ET, who was named the reserve junior champion.

Capturing both the premier breeder and the premier exhibitor banners at show, held on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at the Troy Fairgrounds, was Gor-Wood-D Holsteins, of Mansfield.

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

HUNTINGDON (Huntingdon Co.) — The quality of show animals at the Central Pennsylvania Championship Holstein Show held August 17 at the Huntingdon County Fairgrounds surprised and pleased show judge Ronald Heffner of Jefferson, Maryland.

Heffner, who judged the national junior show in Louisville, said the top five Holsteins shown by the youth exhibitors in the junior-division were comparable to animals shown in Louisville.

"These five animals," Heffner said just before selecting grand champion of the junior show, "all deserve grand champion."

Heffner then selected David Kocher's junior 3-year-old as grand champion of the youth division. Kocher's cow, Hearts Desire Jethro Carla, was sired by Hanoverhill Jethro TW, bred by Eugene Corl and June Kocher.

Rachel Tanis' cow from the 100,000-pound class earned reserve grand champion in the youth division. Ideals Mac Wayne Radar, bred by Jake and Sallianne Tanis of Ideal Holsteins, won the best bred and owned award for the open and youth shows.

Rachel said she would be retiring her favorite cow after this championship show. The cow has won a room full of ribbons and trophies for Rachel over the years.

Grand champion of the open show went to another junior 3-year-old owned by Fred Strouse and Frank Connelly, exhibited by Solid Gold Holsteins. The animal, Hyllside Skybuck Jo, was sired by Hanoverhill Skybuck and bred by Donald Gene Thompson.

Open show reserve grand champion went to a senior 3-year-old owned by Mike Weimer, Fred Strouse, Ken Raney, K. Colyer, R. Gilligan, N. Goldenberg, and A. Goldenberg. Cosper Will Special, sired by Willowland Mark IV, was also exhibited by Solid Gold Holsteins.

Matthew Deputy showed the open show junior champion animal. The spring calf, Meadow-Creek Roebuck Emily, sired by Paradise-Roebuck, is owned by Richard A. Deputy.

Reserve junior champion went to Donald W. and Nancy K. Toms' winter calf. Golden-Dream Encore Jessica, sired by Marcrest Encore, was shown by Jennifer Toms.

In the youth division, Amanda Cessna showed the junior champion, winter yearling, Brush-Creek-Vu Charles Kala, sired by Boulet Charles-ET.

Dianne Glock's summer yearling, Walnut-Hills Stardust Brook, sired by Browndale Stardust, was named the reserve junior champion of the youth division. Walnut-Hills Farm exhibited that animal.

The John Foster family of Globe Run Farms received the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards.

700 Horses Gather In Quentin

QUENTIN (Lebanon Co.) — Approximately 700 horses and their riders and drivers from across the nation will compete here at the 62nd annual Quentin Fall Horse Show, Quentin, Aug. 29 to Sept. 2.

The event showcases a number of breeds, disciplines, and styles of riding and draws horses from as far away as Texas.

Spectatora are invited to bring lawn chairs and a picnic to enjoy ringside as the horses including jumpers, hunters, saddlebreds, Morgans, roadsters and hackney ponies and their riders compete. The show also offers a playground for children, a food court, and shopping.

Along with the opportunity to watch quality equestrian competition, one of the highlights for spectators is an appearance by the Bud Girls, who will be awarding trophies to champion horses and autographing posters from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Saunday, August 31 and Sept. 1.

The show features classes for children and adults, amateurs, and professionals. The $7,500 Quentin Mini-Prix, a timed, show-jumping class over fences, will be held Sunday, Sept. 1 beginning at 6 p.m. Also on Sunday, classes for jumpers ridden by amateurs and children will be held beginning at noon. Saddlebreds, Morgans, roadsters, and hackneys will be the featured attraction each evening. Thursday through Saturday.

The Quentin Riding Club in Quentin is one of the premier venues in the eastern United States for horse shows.

Admission to the grounds is $1, and $3 Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Box seats in the covered grandstands are available for $5 per day on a space available basis.

Tobacco News From:
PARADISE SALES BARN
11th Anniversary of The Tobacco Auction!
First Sale: MONDAY, DEC. 9th
We at Paradise Sale Barn, as in the past, always told the farmer to put minimum on their tobacco to send into the warehouse and we will take care of the minimum. As it stands now tobacco companies and farmers are saying tobacco should not be moved out the back door to meet farmers minimum. Bidding should be at the auction time only We at Paradise decided this will be the rule. This means if all tobacco is sold at auction time, and the buyer needs more tobacco, he will have to raise the price to get more tobacco at auction Also, we will accommodate all buyers at the warehouse according their bidding So farmers, please send your tobacco to Paradise for the best price. Remember, we need volume to make it work We need a full warehouse for first sale, December 9 We have cotton twine and plan to be at your farm soon Watch our schedule
We feel prices will be good Flu-cured tobacco is 20% off in the South because of the too-wet weather and storms Barley crop looks good in the South, except they had a hard time getting it planted because of rain.

Top Prices Paid At Somerset Fair Livestock Sale

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — It took some six and a half hours to sell the 320 head of animals at the Somerset County Fair's Junior Livestock Sale, the receipts of which totaled $185,656 on the Saturday of August 24.

The 59 steers averaged $1,422.30 per animal, while the 94 market lambs averaged $277.27. Some 167 market swine ended the day with a per animal average of $376.77 according to official records kept by statistician, John Hartman.

Walker Farm Service, the premier buyer, purchased some 15 animals for $14,572, while hard on their heels was Lincoln Supply and Equipment, spending some $14,517 to buy 11 animals, including the $7,500 they paid for the 1250 pound Ma/Anj/Ch grand champion steer of Lucas Svonavec of Rockwood, at $6 a pound.

Jason Fisher of Boswell, had the reserve grand champion steer bought by Walker Farm Service which at $4.50 a pound brought in $5,715. The 1270 pounder was also the county bred champion.

Tyler Anderson's county bred reserve champion, a 1320 pound crossbreed sold at $3 a pound bringing the total paid by Hoss's Steak and Sea House to $3,960.

Lucas Svonavec's grand champion lamb, a Suffolk Cross weighing 126 pounds sold for $2,268, or $18 a pound. It was bought by the Animal Medical Center of Somerset County.

The reserve grand champion lamb of Jesse Brant of Rockwood sold for $2,292, or $17.50 to the Somerset Trust Company. A Suffolk, the lamb weighed 131 pounds.

The home grown champion lamb, also shown by Lucas Svonavec sold for $1,330 to the top bidder Hoss's Steak and Sea House at $10 a pound. The Suffolk Cross weighed 133 pounds.

Meagan Schmuck, Rockwood saw her home grown reserve champion lamb bring in a fine purse at $2,398. Animal Medical Center of Somerset County paid a tidy $19.50 a pound for the Suffolk Cross.

Tressler's Ashland Oil Company of Confluence paid $3,125 or $12.50 a pound for Heidi Svonavec's grand champion swine, a Blue Butt weighing 250 pounds. Svonavec is from Rockwood.

The reserve champion swine, shown by Brock Hillegass of Fairhope was a Hampshire Cross which First Philson Bank paid $1,799 or $7.50 a pound. It weighed 257 pounds.

A precedent was set for the sale committee this year when three of the animals shown by Lucas Svonavec became champions.

"We've never had it happen before," said sale chairperson, Mary Ann Sorber. "We knew that it has always been a possibility. Each kid is allowed to sell two animals but they can exhibit five," she explained, "and we want all of the champions to be sold."

Sorber said, the sale committee opted to let the "sale of all champions" rule stand.

The recipients of the newly created $1,000 scholarship that was shared by five veterans showmen went to Erica Walker, Laura Waltermire, Corby Svonavec, Lee Sines and Andrew Barron.

The money for this fund comes from animals that are donated back and resold at the end of the sale. Recipients must have shown animals in each of the preceding three years.

Auctioneers for the 1996 sale were Betty Lou Svonavec, Reed Luce, Kermit Stahl, Mike Knepper, Bill Arnold and Scott Mostoller.

Lecturer To Discuss Open Spaces And Residential Development

WILKES-BARRE (Luzerne Co.) — The rural character and natural landscapes that attract many home buyers to townships is being lost.

This is because most townships adopt ordinances whose principal purpose is to set rules for the orderly conversion of natural lands into developed properties.

In these communities, every acre of buildable land is zoned to become houselots and streets, strip malls, or office parks. It may take 10-20 years, but parcel by parcel, townships that have relied on conventional zoning have found that they ultimately become blanketed with wall-to-wall development.

Fortunately, practical alternatives to conventional zoning do in fact exist, and one of the principal techniques for conserving natural lands is the subject of an upcoming lecture, "A Greener Vision for Community Growth: Preserving Community Open Space through Conservation Development Design."

On Sept. 11, award winning author, lecturer and rural town planner Mr. Randall Arendt of Natural Lands Truct Inc. will be leading a group of local officials, planners, builders, and conservationists through what is being called conservation or open space subdivision design.

This free lecture is to be held in the Quiet Lounge of the Study Learning Center at Penn State Worthington Campus in Dunmore from 6 p.m. until about 9 p.m.

If you are a municipal official, planner, developer, or a concerned citizen interested in preserving open spaces and the rural character of your community, then don't miss this lecture.

For a workshop registration flyer or further information call Penn State Cooperative Extension at (717) 825-1701 or the Lackawanna County Regional Planning Commission at (717) 963-6400.

Without controversial "down zoning," the same number of homes can be built in a less land-consumptive manner, allowing the balance of the property to be permanently protected and added to an interconnected network of green spaces and green corridors criss-crossing one's township or county.

The density-neutral approach of conservation development design respects private property rights and the ability of developers to create homes for an expanding population, accommodating newcomers without unduly impacting the remaining natural areas that make our communities such special places in which to live, work and recreate.

In so doing, it makes everyone a winner — the homeowner, who enjoys the open space next to his or her property and the sense of community that is created; the developer, who benefits from the enhanced market value that a well-planned open space design often brings; and the township, which is able to preserve some open space while still accommodating development and growth.

Conventional approaches to subdivision development produces nothing more than houselots and streets. Eventually a township will be a blanket of wall-to-wall subdivisions.

Alternative methods of designing developments for the same overall density while also preserving 50 percent or more of the site are not difficult to master, and create more attractive and pleasing living environments that sell more easily and appreciate faster than conventional "houselot-and-street" developments.

The significant land conservation achievable through "open space development design" should help smooth the local review and approval process, by responding to environmental concerns such as protecting water quality and wildlife habitat before they are raised by officials or the public.

Open space subdivisions are simply better places to live.

At present, only golf course developments offer comparable amounts of open space. Several studies are showing that four out of five sales are to non-golfers who buy for park-like views of open space, views that can command a premium in a home's initial sale price and its resale value.

This lecture is sponsored by the Northeast Pennsylvania Community Tree Association and Penn State Cooperative Extension, in cooperation with the Lackawanna County Regional Planning Commission, DCNR, Natural Lands Trust, the Pennsylvania Urban & Community Forestry Council, the Lackawanna River Corridor Association, Lackawanna County Conservation District, and the U.S. EPA.

This project is supported by funds provided by the USDA Forest Service, Northeastern Areas, State and Private Forestry and with the assistance of the Morris Arboretum of the University of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry.

ADADC Announces Farm/Progress Days Winners

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — To inform dairy producers about the benefits of dairy promotion, the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) awarded two $100 feed store gift certificates and 18 packages of dairy promotional items to 20 lucky dairy farmers at two recent farm shows: • Empire Farm Days, Aug. 6-8, Seneca Falls, New York; • Ag Progress Days, Aug. 13-15, State College, Pennsylvania. To register for the prizes, dairy producers watched ADADC's annual meeting video and read its educational display to collect answers to questions about ADADC's role in increasing milk consumption. Through the questions, participants learned the following:

• ADADC's goal is to generate $900,000 worth of publicity about milk and dairy products in 1996.

• Using the retailers dairy case records, ADADC designs a layout of the most profitable dairy case. Once retailers reset their dairy case using ADADC's layout, milk sales increase an average of 4%.

• ADADC's staff places nutrition education programs in schools that teach children that dairy products are good nutritious snacks. ADADC's goal is to provide the program to 40% of teachers in NY, NJ, and PA.

Winning the $100 at their local feed store was Matt Deniiston from Dryden, NY and Loretta Aurard from Middleburg, Pennsylvania. The nine winners of the dairy promotional prize packages at Empire Farm Days included: • April Adams, Phelps, NY; • Jennifer Beightol, Falconer, NY; • Violet Biennan, Seymour, CT; • Susan DeMey, Hannibal, NY; • Ed Dooly, Tully, NY: • Ralph Eggleston, Cooperstown, NY; • Janet Kirsch, Varysburg, NY; • Jeanette Marvin, Farmington, NY; • Allison Schonfeld, King Ferry, NY.

The nine winners of the dairy promotional prize packages at Ag Progress Days included: • Carolyn Calhoun, Glen Rock, PA; • Calvin Glick, Quarryville, PA; • Gro-lan Farms, Shippensburg, PA; • Gina Groover, Canton, PA; • Lisa Hamilton, Springboro, PA; • Joan Keith, Entriken, PA; • Rhonda Laudenslager, Halifax, PA; • Barbara O'Dell, Westtown, NY; • Pamela Snook, Loganton, PA.

Milk Urea Nitrogen
MUN is a Powerful Tool

"MUN is a powerful tool to evaluate the ration, as eaten. It allows you to get a look at what is happening in the rumen. And what happens in there affects milk production, body condition, health and even conception rates.

I believe that every dairy farmer can benefit from MUN testing. Don't delay, order it at your next test. The stakes are too high to ignore it."

BUSH HOG®

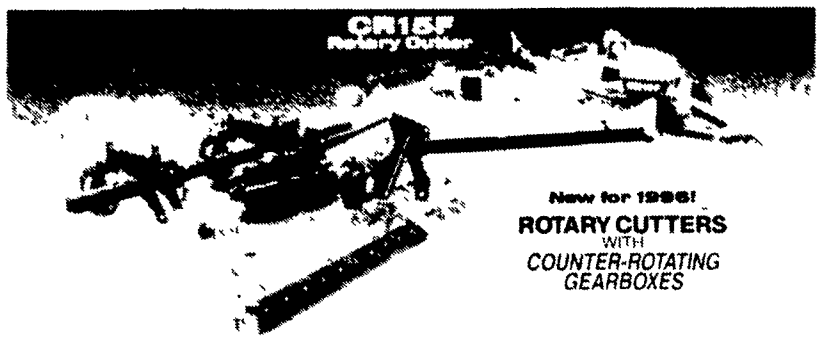
ROTARY CUTTERS



For shredding cotton, milo, corn, wheat stubble and other crops, the CR14R (counter-rotating, 14-foot rigid cutter) and the CR15F (counter-rotating, 15-foot flexwing) are revolutionary cutters in both design and performance

The gearbox design features twin shaft operating in opposite directions The lower blade lifts and cuts the material, and the upward air flow lifts the cut material into the path of the counter-rotating flat blades. These blades continue the shredding process resulting in near flail performance for shredded material. And good distribution, important in minimum and no-till farming, is also a benefit.

BUSH HOG®

S121 & 176 Rear Blades

Loaded with Features for Better Performance, Easier Control and Durability.

Arlene Wilbur Joins Dairy Promotion Efforts

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Many view Jan Harding and Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Promotion Services (PDPPS) as synonymous. But a new name is fast becoming associated with PDPPS — Arlene Wilbur. The Bradford County woman recently was appointed assistant director to Harding.

"Arlene is a very capable person and is a tremendous asset to PDPPS," Harding said. "Through her experience in having her daughter serve as dairy princess and through her involvement on the Bradford County Dairy Promotion committee, she really has a lot to offer the program."

Arlene grew up in the small town near Bradford. After she graduated fron high school and business school, Arlene married dairy farmer Arlyn Wilbur. He continued to farm the 110-acre family farm that had been in the family for almost a century.

While raising daughter Robin, who became the 1991-1992 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, and a son Jeffrey, who is now a high school senior, Arlene worked 10 years as assistant vice president of a branch bank and later as a bookkeeper for a construction company.

"When Robin was crowned dairy princess, I believed in the dairy princess promotion and program so much that I quit my job to accompany Robin," Arlene said.

The introduction to the many agricultural groups who work together for dairy promotion impressed Arlene. Formerly she was acquainted with promotion at only the local level.

After Robin's reign ended and she went on to college, Arlene went back to work as a bookkeeper. Later Robin married a dairy farmer from Tioga County and now works as an administrative assistant at Cornell University. But Arlene never stopped her involvement in dairy promotion. She became chairperson for Bradford County Dairy Promotion and enjoyed accompanying dairy princesses and alternates to training and promotional programs. When serving as a judge for the New York Dairy Princess Program, Arlene was overheard saying, "I have a job, but this is what I really love."

When Jan heard her comment, she suggested she apply for the position with PDPPS. After interviews with board members, Arlene was officially hired in June.

"Over the past 10 to 12 years, the dairy princess program has grown tremendously to include dairy maids and ambassadors," Jan said.

As assistant director, Arlene Wilbur, right, will assist Jan Harding, left, in directing Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc. In its 40 year history, PDPPS has grown tremendously in its promotional services for the dairy industry.

This means more bookwork and meetings for Jan, who has run the program with only the help of a typist.

"It's been a rat race," Jan said. "The board of directors and county committee members help a lot, but they are too busy to do all that needs to be done."

Because Arlene was acquainted with so many different aspects of PDPPS — mother of a dairy princess, county coordinator, and farm wife — she already has a working knowledge of what needs to be done and how the program can be improved.

"People don't realize what goes into making milk — how much farmers care about their product. There are a lot of misconceptions about dairy products," Arlene said.

When Arlene talks, she speaks with confidence and contagious enthusiasm for the industry and the program. "Milk is nearly a perfect food. You won't get natural nutrition with any other alternatives."

She's concerned that surveys show that many doctors and dieticians haven't kept up with recent research.

"One of our former dairy princesses entered nursing school and the dietician who taught a course did not even know the proper daily allowances for dairy products," Arlene said.

The former dairy princess used her training and the resources from the Dairy Council to acquaint the nursing school professionals with up-to-date information.

That's why Arlene believes the dairy princesses program is so valuable.

"We need people in the professional field. What dairy princesses are taught stays with them. They believe in dairy products. That's one more point for farmers.

"These girls are taught about the many different dairy products available and how even those with restricted diets can use dairy products to meet the need for calcium," she said.

Television and radio advertisements can only do so much, Arlene believes.

"Television advertising doesn't explain the health standards of farmers," she said. Of PDPPS, Arlene said, "We do a lot with promotional dollars. We are the grassroots promotion. Consumers see dairy princesses face to face. The girls are armed with the best resources to give consumers informed answers."

She's alarmed that so many farmers are under the impression that dairy princesses just ride in parades or hand out samples in grocery stores.

"Of course, dairy princesses are taught to dress professionally, to look nice because it makes a statement, but people often don't see the involvement or the education these girls receive. They are making a difference."

As a dairy farm wife, mother of a former state dairy princess, school board director, involvement in county dairy promotion, and more, Arlene Wilbur brings a wealth of experience to PDPPS.

While Arlene is pleased with the presentations dairy princesses do at the elementary school level — they made 1,369 appearances so far this year, she said its only an introduction.

"We plant seeds in elementary school, but we need to follow through. We need dairy princesses going into human resource classes at the high school level. This age group is often going to the store for their busy parents. The high schoolers should know about looking for the Real seal and be taught about natural healthy nutrition from someone their own age group."

As dairy princess coordinator in Bradford County, Arlene has required local dairy princesses to go into the high school and tell their peers about the importance of using real dairy products.

As a school board director for 10 years, Arlene knows that schools that use government money to meet educational standards welcome those from the community to help in education.

"Teachers are sometimes skeptical, but when they see the information we have, they are thrilled to have dairy princesses visit," Arlene said.

"It makes good sense that milk is the most natural perfect food. It's the base for the best products," she said.

Arlene is excited to play a role in dairy promotion. She said, "Dairy farming plays a big part in Pennsylvania economy. The trickle-down effect overflows into other businesses as well. We are doing a lot for dairy and ag-related businesses."

Arlene will handle the financial records for PDPPS from her home computer where she is setting up an office in LaRaysville. From that office, she will also correspond with dairy princesses and coordinators.

While Arlene is in training to take over Jan's responsibilities after she retires, that doesn't mean Jan's retirement is imminent.

"We aren't going to let Jan retire completely," said Charlene Ranck, coordinator for PDPPS southeast district. "We are fortunate to have both Arlene and Jan working together."

PDPPS is supported and funded by Pennsylvania dairy farmers through American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, American Dairy Association, Mid-East Allied Milk Producers and independent contributors.

Mini-Seminar Trains Record Number

CLARION (Clarion Co.) — Penn State's Ag Arena was a busy place when a record number of young dairy promoters gathered for an intensive day of instruction on the "how to's" of promoting the dairy industry and its products.

On July 25, 83 young people and 26 adults from 23 Pennsylvania counties spent the day attending workshops and lectures designed to train the participants for their job as promoters. Workshops were held on "The Basics — Cows, Products, Industry Facts and Nutrition;" "Speaking and Interviews;" and "My Image — What to Wear, What to Do, and How to Do It." New this year was a workshop on the preparation of dairy skits and speeches for all those who had previously attended a Mini Seminar.

"Teachers" for the workshop were present and past State Dairy Royalty — young women who have done it themselves. Included were reigning Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, Rhonda Kieklak and her alternates, Heather Oberholtzer and Yvonne Peterman, as well as 1994-95 Pa. Princess, Natalie Welch and Alternate Melissa Bicksler and 1993-94 Pa. Alternate Amy Mearkle.

Also conduction a session on Animal Welfare and Public Concerns was Dr. Lowell Wilson from Penn State's department of animal and dairy science. For the adults, a special session was held by Arlene Wilbur, assistant program director, on county dairy promotions and the role of dairy princesses and their associates.

An entertaining skit on "How NOT To Promote" concluded the day's program.

A sandwich luncheon was served including milk and ice cream and all participants received packets of information and a "Got Milk?" T-shirt. Following the day's activities, an optional tour of Penn State's new Bryce Jordan Center was offered for all those interested in visiting the facility.

The Mini-Training Seminar is conducted annually by Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services as part of its effort to train interested young people in the art of promotion. All those present will return to their counties better prepared to assist their county Princesses and Alternates in the job of representing the dairy industry and promoting its products. Many of these young people will serve as future dairy royalty and it is hoped that all will actively promote the use of dairy products for years to come.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program is supported by Pennsylvania's dairy farmers through their various advertising and promotion agencies and by independent contributions. This year marks the 40th anniversary of continuous service to Pennsylvania's dairy farmers.

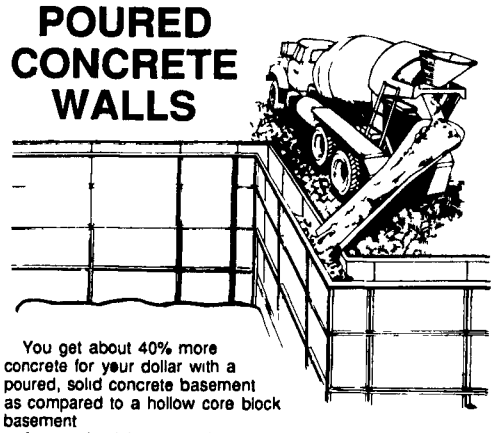
START WITH THE BEST!

POURED CONCRETE WALLS



You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs more per cubic foot! Far denser What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced

Solid Concrete For:

- Manure Pit Walls
- Hog House Walls
- Barnyard Walls
- Chicken House Walls
- Retaining Walls
- House Foundation Walls
- Silage Pit Walls
- Cistern Walls
- Concrete Decks
- Concrete Pit Tops

Relax With A Labor Day Cookout

Time to fire up the grill and enjoy one last bang of summer celebration this weekend. Here are some tried and true favorites from our readers and our files.

The bountiful harvest of fresh fruits and vegetables is a natural complement to grilled foods. Dress them up a bit by serving with dips and sauces.

Remember, top quality meats and produce don't need to be dripping with sauces or drowned in dips and toppings to taste delicious. The natural flavor lightly seasoned is often better, easier to prepare, and enjoyed by all.

CREAMY FRUIT DIP

1 package cream cheese
¾ cup packed brown sugar
1 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup cold milk
1 small package instant vanilla pudding mix

In mixing bowl, beat cream cheese and brown sugar until smooth. Add sour cream, vanilla, lemon juice, milk, and pudding mix. Cover and chill at least one hour. Serve as a dip for fruit.

CUMIN-HONEY LAMB STEAKS

1 to 1¼ pound lamb steak, ¾-inch thick

Cumin Honey Basting Sauce:
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
1 teaspoon ground cumin
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground red pepper

Combine lemon juice, honey, olive oil, parsley, salt and red pepper. Mix well.

Brust meat with basting sauce.

Broil 5 inches from heat for 4 minutes. Turn and brush again with sauce. Broil 4-6 minutes longer or to desired doneness. Discard any left-over basting sauce.

May grill the chops over moderate heat for the same amount of time, turning once and brushing with lemon-honey sauce as in the broiling instructions. Serves 4.

American Lamb

IRVIN'S HOT DOG SAUCE

2 pounds ground beef
3 large onions, chopped fine
1 teaspoons hot peppers
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon garlic powder
½ teaspoon cumin
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper
3½ tablespoons chili powder
2 cups water

Brown ground beef in large frying pan. Chop meat with spatula to make fine. Remove grease, add onions, and brown.

In small bowl, mix together other ingredients except water and add to ground beef. Stir well. Add water and stir well. Simmer for at least one hour, add more water if it becomes too dry.

Use about 2 teaspoons sauce on top of hot dogs after we add chopped onions.

Store in small containers and freeze, and microwave whenever you have hot dogs.

With many eating hot dogs during the Labor Day weekend, I thought I should send my recipe for topping hot dogs in buns. I threw out a lot of samples before I came up with this recipe.

HAMBURGER AND HOT DOG TOPPINGS

Grill the burgers and hot dogs. Let guests personalize their choice with the following:

American cheese slices
Provolone cheese slices
Cheddar cheese, shredded
American and cheddar cheese in aerosol cans
Mustard, regular and Dijon
Ketchup
Mayonnaise
Relishes
Onion slices and diced
Lettuce
Tomato slices
Green pepper slices
Salt and pepper
Hot sauces: Pizza, chili, taco, and barbecue

GRILLED CHICKEN IN OLIVE OIL-CHIVES VINAIGRETTE

4 chicken breast quarters
6 tablespoons olive oil, divided
4 tablespoons wine vinegar, divided
1 teaspoon salt, divided
½ teaspoon pepper, divided
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 clove garlic
Peel of 1 lemon
1 tablespoon chopped chives

In container of food processor or blender, place 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1 tablespoon wine vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, pepper, and mustard; process 15 seconds. Add remaining wine vinegar, olive oil, garlic, lemon peel and chives and process 15 seconds more. Dip each piece of chicken in sauce and coat well. Marinate in refrigerator at least 4 hours or overnight. Place chicken on prepared grill, skin side up, about 8-inches from heat. Sprinkle with remaining ¾ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Grill, turning and basting with sauce every 10 minutes, about one hour or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. Makes 4 servings.

Nat. Broiler Council

GRILLED FRESH HAM

4-5 pounds boneless fresh ham
¾ cup chili sauce
¼ cup red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 clove garlic, minced

Prepare covered grill with drip pan in center, banked with medium-hot coals. Place ham in center of grill. Grill over slow coals until meat thermometer registers 165-degrees about 2-2½ hours. Mix remaining ingredients: brush ham frequently with sauce during the last hour of grilling time. Let ham stand at least 10 minutes before carving.

Snap beans are a favorite year around, available either fresh, canned or frozen. While they are tasty and nutritious in any form, now is the time to enjoy them — fresh from the garden.

Between 6,000 and 7,000 acres of snap beans are grown annually in the state, ranking Pennsylvania as the sixth largest producer of processing snap beans in the nation.

Commonly called string beans, they are more correctly termed snap beans after the sound of being broken into bite-sized pieces.

Snap bean pods are actually the fruit of the bean plant that contains the immature seeds. If the beans are left to completely ripen on the vine, the pod dries up and the seeds mature into dry beans that are marketed as kidney beans.

For a salty, crunchy snack that's low in fat and calories, try this recipe, from The American Cancer Society Cookbook, instead of peanuts or potato chips. It's sure to be appreciated by dieters who crave salty foods. You can add other raw vegetables such as carrots, kohlrabi, fennel, and turnip.

GREEN BEANS CRUNCH

1½ pounds green beans
½ small head cauliflower
1 cup water
1 onion, chopped
1 large clove garlic
1 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon sunflower oil
1 tablespoon sesame seeds
8 large leaves Boston lettuce

Remove stem end of green beans. Cut cauliflower into small florets. In large saucepan, bring 1 cup water to a boil; add onion, garlic, lemon juice, beans, and cauliflower. Reduce heat, cover, and simmer until vegetables are tender crisp, about 8 minutes; drain and discard garlic. Combine soy sauce, ¼ cup water, and oil; pour over vegetables. Cover and refrigerate at least one hour.

Place sesame seeds on pie plate and toast in 325 degree oven for 5 minutes or until golden brown.

Just before serving, toss vegetable mixture; remove from marinade. Arrange lettuce leaf on each plate. Spoon vegetable mixture onto lettuce and sprinkle with sesame seeds. Makes 8 servings.

Learning To Deal With Stress

The first step to coping with stress is to become sensitive to the particular ways in which your own body responds so that you recognize when you under stress. Be alert to these signs and dozens of others. Recognize them in yourself as well as in those you love. Stress often causes some degree of feeling low. You hurt all over. What should you do about it? Fortunately, there are many ways of learning to deal with stresses of life and moderating the toll they take on your health.

Unhealthy Ways To Deal With Stress

Two of the more common ways in which we have learned to deal with stress is an unhealthy manner includes internalizing and using mood-modifying chemicals. Many of us have grown up believing that we must always "Stand of our own two feet: Shape up and be a man," "Keep your chin up and carry on." All these admonitions are very well except that if you're confused, irritated, scared, angry, etc., these emotions are being expressed. They're being expressed internally, where they do damage to your body. When your emotions are denied, covered up and not faced realistically, you get sick. In addition, when you internalize your stress, you can't control the damage it does.

Another unhealthy way of dealing with stress is the over-utilization of mood modifying chemicals. Stay away from these except under a doctor's supervision. Tranquilizers, drugs, and alcohol are not solutions to stress problems. If you use these habitually as crutches to relieve your "tight tummy" or your anxiety, you will fail miserably. You should consider the use of drugs as a temporary measure to help you through a crisis rather than as a routine, day-to-day method of coping with normal stress.

Healthy Ways Of Dealing With Stress

Often an effective way of coping with potential stress is to avoid those situations or circumstances in which stressors are likely to be high. Unfortunately, one cannot always avoid those situations or circumstances. One can however, develop certain skills to help modify stress responses. Several methods of coping with stress are:

1. Like yourself. You are a unique individual. Respect your abilities. Recognize your needs, forgive your errors.

2. Define tasks at hand by determining what you want to accomplish and how you will proceed realistically. Work on one task at a time. When anxiety creeps in, think about what else you may be trying to do and recheck your expectations — are they to high?

3. Learn to accept what you cannot change. Some circumstances are beyond your control. Accept realistic expectations and go about achieving them, with assistance if needed.

4. Talk about your troubles. At times, confiding worries to a special friend or a trained professional may relieve your stress. Often another person can help you see your problem in a new light or find a new possible solution. Worry constructively.

5. Relax creatively. Take time to do something you really enjoy, or learn the art of loafing. If you set aside time to relax, don't let anything interfere.

6. Work off tensions. Try a physical activity like walking or gardening.

7. Keep yourself physically fit. Know how many hours of sleep you need. Having enough sleep regulary will help give you a refreshed outlook on life. Eat nutritionally balanced meals. Have a regular exercise program.

If the stresses you are feeling interfere with day-to-day living and application of one or more of the above methods of coping with stress do not seem to eliminate the symptoms you're experiencing, it is suggested that you contact your physician or a mental health professional.

Make It Happen! FFA

Penn Yan FFA Is All Over The Yates County Fair

MARCY QUACKENBUSH
Penn Yan FFA Reporter

Many Penn FFA members had their chance to speak and demonstrate what the FFA is all about by attending the 157th Yates County Fair, July 9-13.

On opening day, Emily Lilyea (PY FFA secretary) and Marcy Quackenbush (PY FFA reporter) had the opportunity to go "live" on the WFLR radio station and explain to the community what the FFA would be doing throughout the week at the Yates County Fair. They also explained what the FFA is and what the Penn Yan Chapter had accomplished throughout the year.

Also on opening day, Penn Yan FFA members had the opportunity to see their favorite rodeo cowboy, Bob Collins, participate in the Sanction IPRA Rawhide Rodeo. Bob competed in the Saddle Bronc Rider competition. Unfortunately, he fell off before the eight second qualifying time mark had been reached. Bob also was a rodeo clown. He was a blast to watch. Bob is a second year member of the Penn Yan FFA Chapter.

The FFA had two display cases at the fair. One was a booth which displayed several awards that the chapter had been presented with over the year, the chapter's scrapbooks, and a continuous video showing of the 71st New York State FFA Convention. The chapter received an offical Blue Yates County ribbon.

The FFA also designed a landscaping exhibit which displayed many flowers that were grown in the ag department's greenhouse. The exhibit featured a waterfall that fell into a pool of water, fish, and watering plants; the letters FFA spelled out with marigolds; a stone patch for fair goers to walk around; and the chapter's theme, "FFA: In Your Home, In Your School, In Your Community. It's Not Just For Farmers Anymore!" The Penn Yan FFA also sold extra plants that were in ag department's greenhouse. The landscaping exhibit also received an excellent rating.

On Wednesday, July 10, FFA members had the opportunity to compete in the FFA tractor operators contest. Emily Lilyea (PY FFA sectetary) took fourth; Matt Leach took third; Matt Fritz (PY FFA vice president) took second; and Aaron Vaughan (PY FFA sentinel) took first. Aaron will be representing the Penn Yan FFA Chapter at the Great New York State Fair in August.

On Saturday, July 13, Natalie Jensen (PY FFA treasurer) and Marcy Quackenbush (PY FFA reporter) had the opportunity to meet Dr. Donald Davidson DVM, who is the commissioner of New York State Department of Ag and Markets. The two FFA members guided Davidson throughout the fair and explained to him what the FFA is all about, and what the chapter had accomplished

Once again, Monker has the free run of the house. The computer keyboard no longer must be parked on top of the monitor. Knives can go back into the utensil basket of the dishwasher.

And the house is very, very quiet.

Our daughter and grandson have returned to Oregon after their three-week visit. Like others across the nation, she and her husband are headed back to their classrooms. But, gee, the place seems lonely.

I'd forgotten the chaos that can reign in the wake of a busy, inquisitive toddler. Or, "28 pounds of perpetual motion" my mother accurately labeled this rarely-still, 15-month bundle of boundless energy with the Grandma-melting grin.

Though a "city kid," he readily embraced farm life and the animals that play such a vital role in it. Tending calves proved to be a favorite event, explaining why the water buckets suddenly sprouted hay and grain littered the floor. Feeding the barn cats was also great fun, although the felines went a bit hungry the evening he dumped their milk down over himself.

Like all toddlers, his attention span is short. Only the most absolutely fascinating (or forbidden) things capture his focus for more than brief periods of time. Slopping in water happens to be one of those things. So, the calf barn water spigot, situated right down at a toddler's level, served as a captivating plaything while the bottles were fed and bedding was put down.

Even the calf housed in the pen by the spigot seemed to enjoy the visitor, reaching down to nibble at his sandy-blond hair. Not in the least upset, Josh found being nibbled by a calf to be a great amusement and returned repeatedly to keep the entertainment going.

All other diversions fell by the wayside to the lawn tractor, however, which was conveniently parked near the calf pens for several days. Climbing on and off, turning the steer wheel and pretending to work the levers — all while the mower was parked — claimed his absolute attention. Left to watch him one evening while our daughter helped pull a truck out of a wet spot in a field, I enticed him away from the mower seat long enough to finish calf chores — toting him in the backpack.

Even that proved intriguing to Josh, who cleared away the spider webs that were gathering along the roof of one set of pens.

The only resident disturbed by his visit was Monk, our aging, snooty housecat. For the first several days of their visit, she hid out — in the basement, upstairs, behind the living room couch. Gradually, Monk adapted to the small extra in the house who found her positively fascinating, especially when she curled up on a kitchen chair at his eye level. Only once did he try to pet her before one of us was there to "help." His scratched nose attested to the encounter for several days afterward.

After the tears dried, he headed right back in her direction.

But now the blocks, the puzzles, and the balls are piled back into the toybox, on hold until another visit. The highchair, portacrib and car seat being returned to generous relatives and friends who loaned them to us. Wooden spoons, pan lids, plastic containers, and the favorite bag of pretzels sit, undisturbed, in their respective cupboards. The Farmer has re-programmed the TV remote and I can step away from the computer keyboard without finding strange additions when I return.

Life is back to as normal as it ever gets here.

Except for the great big hole in our hearts that could only be filled by a toddler's grin and open, outstretched little arms begging to picked up.

Fulton County Farm Women Plan Convention

Society of Farm Women of Fulton County will host their biennial convention on Saturday, September 7.

The morning program will begin with registration from 9 to 10 a.m. and will conclude after lunch. The convention will be held at the McConnellsburg American Legion in the ground floor banquet room.

Helen Overly will be keynote speaker for the program. Overly-Raker, Inc. is a unique soft-sculpture company which she and Freda Raker started in their basement near McConnellsburg, and which now has international connections and sales across the United States. Overly will recall some of the lighter side of running a growing business, and will also entertain with music on her ukulele. Linda Garber will have a display table from Sheep Ridge Farm, where she sells crafts as well as Southdowns.

Farm Women will be the first to see a short video produced by the local Tourist Promotion Agency, highlighting the annual Fulton Fall Folk Festival around the county.

A memorial service, installation of new county officers, bazaar table, and other items are on the program. Lunch features lemon pepper chicken. Cost of the convention is $10.50 for Farm Women and guests. For reservations, call Mary Culler at (717) 485-3275 before September 2.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 4

A picnic lunch, games, crafts and homemade ice cream were enjoyed when Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 4 held their August meeting at the home of Verna and Charles Taylor in Loysville, Perry County.

President Virginia Taylor conducted the business meeting. A memorial to Jean Waldo, a member for more than 20 years, who passed away recently was held.

Elsie Rothenberger and Verna Taylor were appointed to the nominating committee.

Lebanon Society 21

Lebanon Farm Women Society 21 met at the home of Millie Donmoyer, president. Members were scheduled to go miniature golfing, but, due to rain, the meeting was held on Millie's patio. For roll call, members answered the question: What's your favorite flower?

New member Terry Shuey was welcomed, a poem was read and reports given on the mystery tour to the Hershey Rose Garden and Museum. Several members volunteered to help at the food stand during the fair.

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Farm Women Society 18 held its August meeting in the home of Dorothy Brubaker. Ella Mae Hershey presented devotional thoughts to the 19 women attending. A

A most interesting and complete description about the training of life assistance dogs was given by a non-profit organization.

The dogs become capable companions to assist elderly with post stroke, cerebral palsey and other mobility-impairment. With the two-year training costs $8,000, the needy may purchase the dogs for $300.

President Roberta Shepherdson conducted the business meeting and made announcements before the group sang the theme song and were dismissed.

Berks Society 3

Berks Society 3 met at Jeanette Millers from Barto for a family picnic. Members had lots of enjoyable and different foods and desserts which were delicious. The children had fun with games and so did the adults. Members ended the evening with our annual bingo game. The next meeting will be a trip to The Mercer Museum in Doylestown.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

ANSWER — Marie Clover asked for old-time tomato jelly or jam recipes. Thanks to Louetta Reynolds, Greencastle, for sending recipes.

Tomato Butter

7 pounds firm ripe tomatoes, pared and sliced
Add 3 pounds sugar
Scant pint vinegar
1 ounce cinnamon
½ ounce whole cloves
Boil for three hours or until thick like apple butter.

ANSWER — Jean Nestler, Halifax, wanted a recipe to make chocolate syrup. Thanks to Trudy Ashelman, Orangeville; Pat Elligson, Millers, Md.; Mrs. Ray Kenney, and others for sending recipes.

Chocolate Syrup

Mix in saucepan, boil 5 minutes:
2 cups granulated sugar
2 cups water
¼ cup corn syrup
Mix in and slowly boil for 10 minutes.
1 cup cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
Stir in 2 teaspoons vanilla.
Put in a jar and cover tightly, cool. This will keep several months in the refrigerator.

Chocolate Syrup

2 cups boiling water
1 cup cocoa
3 cups sugar
1 cup King syrup
Mix together sugar and cocoa. Add to water, stir well. Add syrup, bring mixture to a boil. Boil until sugar and cocoa are well dissolved, about 2 minutes. Note: watch carefully as this mixture will boil over easily. Cool and refrigerate. Good in chocolate milk or over ice cream.

ANSWER — Anna Lynch, Pasadena, Md., wanted recipes for plain yeast bread. Thanks to Mrs. Ray Keeny for sending a recipe.

Plain White Bread

1 tablespoon shortening
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2¼ cups lukewarm water
1 tablespoon dry yeast
6 cups bread flour
Pus shortening, sugar, salt and water into bowl. Sprinkle yeast on top. Stir. Let dissolve. Stir in flour, add more if dough is too sticky to knead. Knead. If kneading by hand, knead about 8 minutes or until smooth. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Punch down. Let rise again until double. Divide into 2 or 3 loaves. Knead and shape. Put in bread pans. Let rise until double. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes.

If you would like to make cinnamon bread, roll or spread the loaf into a rectangular shape. Sprinkle generously with cinnamon-sugar mixture made by combining 3 tablespoons cinnamon to 1 cup sugar. Roll up into a loaf and put into bread pan. Let rise. Bake. Very good, especially toasted.

ANSWER — Mrs. C.S. Yoder, Lewisburg, wanted a recipe for oatmeal pancakes. Thanks to Anna Martin, Denver, for sending a recipe.

Oatmeal Pancakes

1½ cups uncooked, old-fashioned rolled oats
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 egg whites
12-ounce can evaporated skim milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
In a blender or food processor, process the oats to the consistency of coarse flour. Put the oat flour in a large bowl. Add all other dry ingredients and mix well. In another bowl, combine all remaining ingredients and mix well. Pour the liquid ingredients into the dry ingredients and stir until completely moistened.

heat a large non-stick skillet or griddle over medium-low heat until drops of water dance on the surface before evaporating. Spoon 2 to 3 tablespoons batter into the skillet for each 4-inch pancake and cook until bubbles form on the surface and the underside is slightly browned. Turn over and cook until the other side is lightly browned.

¼ pound lean ground beef or fried bacon
1 medium onion, diced
2 15-ounce cans chopped tomatoes, juice included
16-ounces dark red kidney beans
16-ounces butter beans
16-ounces great northern beans
16-ounces baked beans
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon Grandma's molasses
Fry lean ground beef, add the remaining ingredients, place in 3 quart dish. Place in oven at 350 degrees for one hour, turn oven off and allow dish to remain in oven for one hour. Serves 16.

B.J. Light
Lebanon

FOILED FISH

2 pounds fish fillets
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onions
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced mushrooms
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 pound tomatoes, cut up
¼ teaspoon thyme
In saucepan, melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add onion, green peppers, mushrooms, and garlic. Cook until tender. Add tomatoes and thyme. Cook 5 minutes. Cut 14-inch lengths of heavy duty aluminum foil. Sprinkle salt and pepper on each fish fillet. Place one piece of fish on greased center of each piece of foil. Spoon equal amounts of sauce over each fillet. Fold edges of foil up over center and make a secure double fold. Fold ends over in a double fold. Place on the grill and cook for 30 minutes.

Jersey Fresh

CITRUS PORK CHOPS

4 4-ounce boneless loin chops, 1-inch thick
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
2 teaspoons chopped chives
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dried tarragon, crushed
Combine all ingredients except pork chops; mix well. Place chops in shallow dish; pour marinade over chops. Cover and refrigerate for 6-24 hours. Prepare covered grill with drip pan in center, banked by medium-hot coals. Grill chops for 20-25 minutes, turning once, and basting occasionally with marinade. Serves 4.

'Everything's Better With Butter'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The most popular food enjoyed with the taste.of real butter is the theme of the 28th Annual Butter Sculpture, unvield on Wednesday, August 21, at the New York State Fairgrounds by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC). Depicting a young girl and her grandfather enjoying an ear of homegrown corn-on-the-cob, the scene was created in 160 hours using 800 pounds of butter. Donated by Dairylea Cooperative and Milk Marketing, Inc., the butter comes from O-At-Ka in Batavia, NY, and Sharon BuMann of Central Square, NY had this year's sculpting honors.

To increase butter publicity opportunitites, ADADC asked the Syracuse community to select the theme for the annual event. Individuals were invited to submit their ideas for the sculpture, along with finishing this statement: "The one food I wouldn't even consider eating without butter is _____."

Hundreds of suggestions were received; from the timely, to the bizarre, and in all forms; from crayon drawings to photographs and computer generated graphics. The winning entry was submitted by ten-year-old Candice Anklin, granddaughter of dairy farmers William and Betty Richards from Skaneateles, NY. In writing about her grandfather, Anklin wrote:

My Papa's sweet corn is the best in the world. He has a farm in Skaneateles and has been a farmer for 67 years. He knows how to grow good sweet corn, but real butter makes it taste even better. We never buy anything but real butter. My Papa says the fake stuff is nothing more than yellow grease, and why bother cooking if you ruin all that work by using anything less than real butter.

I think the butter sculpture this year should be a little girl with no front teeth trying to eat sweet corn. Two rows of kernels would still be on the corn because she has no front teeth. Butter would be dribbling down her chin.

When I had no front teeth, my Papa would cut the corn off the cob so I could eat it better. He doesn't do that anymore because I am ten and have all my teeth. But, when he gets older and doesn't have all his teeth anymore, I will cut the corn off the cob for him.

Anklin enjoys working with her grandfather every day on his 1000-acre 200-Holstein farm. Her favorite chores include naming calves, helping to feed animals, and painting the new milking parlor. Richards farms with his two sons, Ken and Ron.

Media Publicity

The butter sculpture contest was publicized in the morning and evening editions of the Syracuse daily newspapers; the ABC and CBS-affiliate television stations and two local radio stations. After the unveiling, newspaper coverage included a front page photograph and story in the Syracuse evening newspaper and a large story in the Syracuse morning edition. All three Syracuse television stations attended the press conference and ran stories on news shows at noon, 5:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. In addition, the NBC and CBS affiliate television stations provided stories to Rochester and Buffalo television stations. The story was also offered on the CBS national feed, making it available to affiliates throughout the country.

Survey Results

As for the survey, locally grown corn-on-the-cob won by a landslide, taking nearly 50% of the vote. Favorites such as popcorn, waffles, toast, potatoes (baked, salt, and mashed), and lobster and clams ranked high on the list. Other entries were a bit more unusual: including scones, grits, tomatoes, and kohlrabi (a type of cabbage with a greatly enlarged, fleshy, turnip shaped edible stem).

Whether they're spreading it on corn, melting it on toast, or drizzling it on lobster, more consumers continue to reach for real butter at the dairy case. Americans ate just over 4½ pounds of butter per person this year — the highest rate of consumption in the past 20 years. Market observers suggest several reasons for this steady increase in butter consumption: recent scientific studies questioning the health benefits of margarine, lower butter prices, and the "pleasure revenge" — consumers seeking enjoyable eating experiences once again.

Cooking And Salad Oils Suitable To Lubricate Cars, Boats, Machines

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — They're not just for french fries anymore. Tests at Penn State have shown that many vegetable-derived cooking and salad oils, such as corn, sunflower and canola, can be made to perform as well or better than the commercial standard for car, boat and machine lubricants.

While the tests examined important but relatively narrow characteristics, renewable Lubricants of Ohio, has also demonstrated vegetable oil's potential by using similar corn oil formulations successfully in company vehicles for the last three years. The company's success challenges the widespread perception that vegetable oils oxidize too rapidly to be used in engines.

There has been continuing interest in vegetable oil-based lubricants for many years because they are more environmentally friendly. They can be produced and disposed of with less impact on the environment and are cheaper to manufacture than current synthetic lubricants.

Vegetable oils offer Third World countries with a good farm base a real alternative to importing oil for lubricants.

Rape seed oil is already in use as hydraulic fluids in Europe. Rape seed oil is a highly mono unsaturated or "high oleic" oil. Oleics, as a class, display better natural stability than either highly saturated or highly unsaturated oils.

High saturated oils, vegetable shortening for example, are less healthy as food, but make the best lubricants because of their good stability. However, highly saturated oils don't have the fluidity needed in cars, boats and machines.

ANSWER — Marlene Hursh, Morrisville, Vt., wanted a recipe for deep fried ice cream. Thanks to Joan Yarnall, Gilbertsville, for sending her family's favorite recipe.

Mexican Fried Ice Cream

½ gallon French vanilla ice cream
4 to 5 cups corn flakes, coarsely crushed
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
Vegetable oil
Honey
Sweetened whipped cream
Cinnamon-sugar tortillas

Place 8 scoops ice cream on a baking sheet; freeze ice cream balls at least one hour or until firm.

Combine crushed corn flakes and cinnamon in a shallow dish. Roll each ice cream ball in corn flake mixture, coating well. Place coated ice cream balls on baking sheet. Cover and freeze several hours or until very firm.

Fry ice cream balls in deep hot oil (375 degrees) for 10 to 20 seconds or until golden brown. Drain on paper towels, and serve immediately with honey, sweetened whipped cream, and cinnamon-sugar tortillas. Yield: 8 servings.

Cinnamon-Sugar Tortillas

¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
4 (8-inch) flour tortillas
Vegetable oil

Combine sugar and cinnamon, stirring well; set aside. Cut each tortilla into four wedges. Heat half inch of oil in a large skillet to 350 degrees. Fry tortilla wedges, a few at a time, one minute or until golden brown. Drain well on paper towels, and sprinkle with sugar mixture. Yield: 16 tortillas.

ANSWER — Alta Sensenig, Newville, wanted a recipe for butter and egg dinner rolls, which are really moist. Thanks to Trudy Ashelman, Orangeville, and others for sending recipes.

Moist Parkerhouse Rolls

Heat together until butter is melted and cool until lukewarm. Do not boil.

1½ cups milk
6 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar

Dissolve 1 package rapid rise dry yeast and let stand 5 minutes or until it starts working. Add in slowly a little more or less depending on consistency of dough:

4 cups flour

Let set 30 minutes and shape into small rolls placing in a greased pan and brushing tops with melted butter. Let rise 15 minutes and bake at 350 degrees until golden brown and done. Approximately 20-25 minutes. Makes 18 rolls.

Moist Potato Buns

Mix together:
¾ cup warm water
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt

Dissolve in 1 package rapid rise dry yeast. Stir in:
1 beaten egg
⅓ cup shortening
½ cup mashed potatoes

Add gradually:
3½ -4 cups flour

Knead dough until smooth. Let remaining refrigerator in 2 hours. Remove and shape into rolls and let rise 1½ -2 hours or until doubled in size. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until done. Brush with melted butter.

Kids Korner

To our knowledge, the youngest exhibitor at the Elizabethtown Fair held last week was eight-month-old Benjamin Mowrer. His two New Zealand rabbits were first and second class winners. Shown with him are his mother, Erin Mowerer, right, and grandparents Dwight and Sarah Algoe, leaders of the Mount Joy 4-H Rabbit Club. Said his grandmother, "Our dream is that he will keep competing through his teen-age years."

Jordan, 4, and Devin, 22 months, are dressed for the E-town Fair. The brothers are the children of Beth and Tim Eberly.

Let's Think Country Fair Time

Once when my brothers took me to the county fair, I was very thirsty, so he bought a _ t _ _ _ _ _ r _ _ m _ _ _ _ _ _ k _ for me to drink. He drank one, too.

I remembered to say "Thank you," to my brother.

We walked around. We looked at stuff. We talked to some friends. We laughed at a funny _ l _ _ _ carrying bobbing _ a _ _ o o _ _ on sticks.

When it was time for the g _ _ _ d _ _ _ n _ show, my brother took out his _ _ _ l _ t to pay for our _ _ _ k _ _ _. He had a twenty dollar _ i _ _.

I had five dollars to spend. I asked my brother if he was hungry for _ _ _ c _ _ _.

"Yeah. That sounds good. If you're buying it, I want the jumbo size," he said.

On the grandstand, we watched the demolition d _ _ _ _. We cheered for the guy who was driving an ugly green clunker named "Lizard."

Later, we rode the _ _ r r _ _ _ h _ _ _. When it was stopped to load or unload riders, the seats sould s _ _ _ _ back and forth. Girls would _ c _ _ _.

Our pickup truck has another passenger on the way home. It was a big _ t _ _ p _ _ _ _ g _ _. My brother won it at a ball-throwing booth.

C _ _ _ _ _ _ _ (they have winners)

O _ _ _ _ _ _ (the sky is the roof)

_ _ _ _ _ U _ _ _ (royalty)

N _ _ _ _ _ (good with cheese sauce)

T _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ ("May I take a message?")

Y _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ (not yet teenagers)

F _ _ _ _ _ _ (they hang out together)

A _ _ _ _ _ _ (rabbits, chickens, cows)

A big attraction at the E-town Fair is the Petting Zoo. Here children can crawl around on the table with rabbits.

GARDENERS COMPETE FOR MORE RIBBONS

Gardeners will be competing for 48 additional ribbons and prizes at the York Fair this September. The number of prize categories has been increased to reflect recent trends in home flower gardening. Some of the new categories include double and bi-colored African violets; dinnerplate dahlias; yellow, gold, orange and white marigolds; giant and cutting zinnias; daisy, decorative and spider chrysanthemums; and bi-color and Old Garden roses.

To enter the York Fair obtain a copy of the York Fair prize book. The prize book contains information on how to enter, when to enter, and how entries are to be exhibited and judged. Prize books are available at many local stores, Penn State Cooperative Extension or the York Fair office at 848-2596.

Most gardeners enter Department 13 - Vegetables, Department 14 - Fruits and Nuts, or Department 17 - Floral Exhibits. There is no entry fee for these departments.

To organize yourself, begin surveying your garden during late August and early September. In your prize book, circle all flowers, fruits and vegetables that you could possibly enter into the Fair. Be optimistic! Plan on entering more than you actually do.

Make a list of all items you circled. Include department, section, class and item number. Note class descriptions, such as Beans in Pod (1 pt.). Use this list to organize harvesting, preparing and entering your produce.

You can simplify the entry process by taking your list to the Fair. If you are entering several items, stop by the Fair office and pick up a mail-in entry blank. If received by September 1, labels will be ready for you at the exhibit hall the day you enter.

Harvest carefully.

After reading the entry descriptions carefully, harvest your flowers and vegetables on the day you plan to enter them. Know what it is and how many specimens are needed to make an entry. Harvest flowers and vegetables during the coolest daytime hours, preferably morning, to prevent moisture loss. Harvest leafy vegetables with root attached. Keep the root moist and cut it off just before exhibition.

Don't pull our root vegetables, such as onions, leeks and carrots. Rather, dig a trench to the side and as deep as the roots, being careful not to damage the roots. For best selection, dig three or four times the amount of specimens required.

Don't pick too many above ground crops at one time. This includes beans, cucumbers and peppers. After cleaning and sorting your harvest, you can go back into the garden and pick more selectively.

Cut vegetables that don't pull away easily from a plant with a knife or scissors. This include corn, eggplant, lettuce, cabbage, squash and herb sprigs.

Before leaving home, check your entries by asking yourself these questions.

- Do I have the right number of specimens?
- If stated, is this the correct variety?
- Are all my entries uniform in type, size, shape, color or maturity?
- Are all my entries free of insect and weather damage, disease and handling injuries?
- Are all my entries fresh and clean and trimmed neatly?

Before you leave Horticultural Hall, be sure that all entries are labeled correctly and displayed to your liking.

Transportation Tricks

Transportation is critical. Tipped jars and rough box edges often result in broken flower petals or bruised vegetables. To avoid disappointments try these transportation tricks.

1. Line carrying boxes or baskets with cloth towels. Wrap delicate vegetables, like summer squash in soft towels. Separate heavy items, like melons, from fragile items, like tomatoes. Freezer bags are an excellent way to separate, label and transport multiple specimen entries, like green and dried beans..

2. A box with divided compartments is a great way to transport flowers. Place small jars in each section. Fill each jar with a little water. Put one complete flower entry in each jar. If you find a good transportation box, LABEL IT and STORE IT! There is nothing more frustrating than trying to find a box at the last minute.

Good Luck at the Fair!

How To Select Cantaloupe

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Right now, you can enjoy the delicious and juicy flavor of cantaloupes fresh from your local market and roadside stands. But, consumers often question, "How can I tell this is really a good-tasting melon?"

There's no disputing some basic ripeness indicators. A good cantaloupe will have no trace of a stem and pronouced cavity where the melon was pulled from the vine. These two characteristics indicate that melon was harvested when it was fully mature, which is important because melons do not increase their sugar content after they have been harvested.

When buying cantaloupes, select melons that have a thick netting and a rich golden color underneath. They should have a delicate aroma. A cantaloupe that is still firm can be stored uncut at room temperature to let the flesh become softer and juicer, but it will not become sweeter.

Generally, cantaloupe should be served at room temperature or only slightly chilled to enjoy the full flavor. Each one cup serving provides a good source of vitamins A and C and potassium and has only 35 calories.

QUESTION — Leona Spangler, P.O. Box 41, Spring Mills, PA 16875-9419, would like to buy a copy of "Searchlight" cookbook and a Rumford cookbook, which were printed between 1930-1940. Other cookbooks from that era are also welcomed.

QUESTION — J. Hykes, 321 E. King St., Shippensburg, PA 17257-1424, is looking for old photographs of Christmas trees, which were taken before 1950.

QUESTION — J. Loren Yoder, Belleville, would like information about three different milk bottles from the following: Weaver's Dairy of Malvern; Spicklers Dairy of Elizabethtown, and Supplee-Sealtest Dairy Products.

QUESTION — A Reinholds reader would like to purchase a used flat beater and 12-quart bowl for a Reynolds Electric Company commercial mixer serial number C37129.

QUESTION — Betty Sterner had a set of 12 plates limited edition 1979 Franklin Mint Porcelain by Peter Banett, but the January plate broke. Can anyone help her find a plate to replace the broken one?

QUESTION — Roman Peters, Port Trevorton, would like to know where to purchase miniature horseshoes that are approximately 1½ -2-inch in width, measured from the outer edges.

QUESTION — Linda Gorman of Wayland, Mass., requests directions on how to make salve for cuts and wounds of livestock. She had requested this earlier and someone had given her a phone number for the Haffer's Salve recipe. They wanted $50,000 for the recipe. She didn't want it that badly.

QUESTION — A reader from Loysville would like to know where to buy black wool knit World War II Navy caps.

QUESTION — J.R. Peppler, Glen Mills, would like to find a source for ram horns. He wants to make shepherd's crooks from them as they do in England. The horn is softened and bent into the top end.

QUESTION — Jack Gaul, Pipersville, would like to know where to get information on a Standard Monarch garden tractor.

QUESTION — Louise Graybeal, Renick, W.Va., would like to purchase an electric milker for one milch cow.

ANSWER — Milton Haines, Tabernacle, N.J., wanted to know where to find transmission gears for a Midland garden tractor model #MR30, Serial #1017. Thanks to Herb Austin for writing that he makes custom gears. By U.P.S., send the old gear to use as a pattern to Cornerstone Tool and Die, 30 N. 1st Ave., Corry, PA 16407. Phone (814) 664-7665 or Fax (814) 664-9808.

ANSWER — Lois Babcock, Friendsville, wanted to know where to buy tweed men's socks with a red heel to make cloth monkeys. Thanks to Vera Zimmerman, Blain, for writing that they are available at Wise Dry Goods, Route 1, Box 281C, Loysville, PA 17047-9731.

Kathryn Fetterman writes that the socks are available through Vermont Country Store, P.O. Box 3000. Mail order office Manchester Center, VT 05255-300. Phone (802) 362-2400.

ANSWER — Warren Stair of Littlestown wanted information on spraying sweet corn for bugs and worms. An anonymous writer submitted the following: Spraying equipment for spraying sweet corn for bugs and worms depends on the amount of corn raised. If you have a garden plot, a back-pack sprayer is suitable. If you raise a lot of sweet corn, an air blast sprayer is needed because you can't get a tractor and boom sprayer through the rows when corn is starting to tassle. Insecticides depend on whether one has a spray license or is a home gardener. Contact your local extension service for further help on insecticides.

ANSWER — Norma Burkholder, Denver, wanted information on how to make candles and where to order supplies and Lois Babcock wanted to know where to buy Raggedy Ann and Andy candy or candle molds. Thanks to Bob and Annette Hughes for writing that they sell beeswax, honeycomb beeswax sheets, poly and metal candle molds, wickery, etc. Send for a brochure or fax a request to Rainbow Enterprises, P.O. Box 81, Blue Ball, PA 17506. Include a self-adressed stamped envelope for brochure.

Shriners' Cookbook Sales To Help Children With Medical Problems

READING (Berks Co.) — For almost 75 years, Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children—a network of 22 pediatric specialty hospitals—have provided free, quality medical care for more than 530,000 children.

How, many people ask, can all care and services provided at Shriners Hospitals be totally without charge to the patient and family with no payments sought from insurance companies or government agencies?

According to Dennis Hagen, commander of the Rajah Temple Legion of Honor (LOH) located in Reading, the monies come from gifts, bequests, endowment fund, and annual dues and fundraisers by Shriner members.

One of these fundraisers is a cookbook put out by LOH.

"Nothing beats home cooking and the proof is right here in this cookbook," said Hagen, who is himself an accomplished cook.

The 124-page spiral-bound cookbook contains about 400 recipes. The recipes, which include soups, salads, appetizers, beverages, vegetables, main dishes, breads, rolls, and desserts, are printed on attractive ecru paper with easy-to-read burgandy print.

Profits of this cookbook will go toward one of the LOH projects called "Kicks For Our Kids." This is a program designed to supply each of the Shrine Hospitals and Burn Centers with a Super Nintendo set and a series of tapes for the children to use.

"We keep going around to the hospitals and upgrading the centers with new games," Hagen said of the 19 Shriners Orthopaedic Hospitals and three burn centers in operation across the U.S., Canada, and Mexico. Three of the hospitals are spinal cord injury centers, one being the Philadelphia unit.

Shriners Hospitals accept and treat any child up to their 18th birthday, if, in the opinion of the hospital's chief of staff, the child can be helped, and if treatment at another facility would place a financial burden on the family. Children of all races and religions are accepted and need not have any relationship to a Shriner.

The first Shriners Hospital was built in 1922. Since 1920, the hospitals have been involved in research. One of its most outstanding achievements was developing a method of "growing skin" from a tiny sample of a burn patient's own skin. In a celebrated 1983 case, this breakthrough enabled the burns institute to save the lives of two boys who were burned over 97 percent of their body surface, marking the first time a cultured organ had ever been used in a life-saving situation as well as the first time any human being was known to survive such a severe injury.

More than 530,000 youngsters have received free treatment at the Shriners Hospitals. Some of the most common orthopaedic problems treated at Shriners Hospitals are Scoliosis (curvature of the spine), Osteogenisis Imperfecta (brittle bone disease), hand and back problems, limb deficiencies and growth problems, orthopaedic probelms of Spina Bifida with Myelodysplasia (paralysis of limbs due to faulty congenital development of the spine and spinal nerves), problems resulting from neuromuscular disorders, Legg-Perthes disease (development problems of the hip), rickets and orthopaedic problems of cerebral palsey. If you know of a child with an orthopaedic disability or burn injury, or if you would like more information about the hospitals, call toll-free, 1-800-237-5055.

What sets Shriners Hospitals apart from other healthcare facilities is that patients and their families and insurance companies have never been charged for medical services or treatment. Known as the "World's Greatest Philanthropy," the Shriners meet the expenses through an endowment fund, dues and fundraisers such as cookbook sales.

The Shriners, who are perhaps best recognized for their colorful parades and distinctive red hats, requires that members have actively served and been honorable discharged from the Armed Services of the U.S., its allies or in active duty. The purpose of the LOH is to conserve the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the service of their country, to foster a spirit of patriotism, and love of country and its flag.

Hagen said that this is the second cookbook the LOH has printed. The first cookbook went on sale in 1993 and was a complete sellout within weeks.

The cost of the new cookbook is $9 plus $4 for shipping and handling. Send check or money order to L.O.H. Cookbook, P.O. Box 2543, West Lawn, PA 19609.

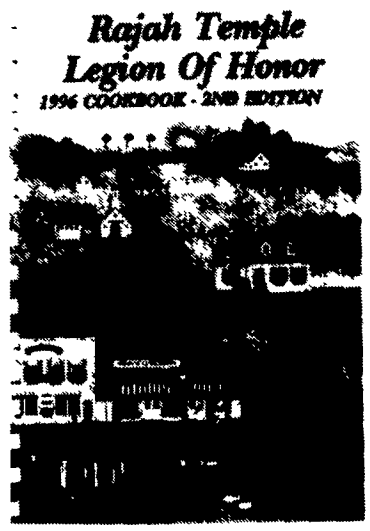
Here are some recipes from the cookbook.

BAKED GERMAN POTATO SALAD

1 cup diced bacon
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
⅓ cup sugar
⅓ cup cider vinegar
1½ cups water
⅓ cup fresh parsley, chopped
2 teaspoons celery seed
2 quarts potatoes, boiled, peeled, and sliced ¼ -inch thick (red ones are ideal)

Fry the bacon until crisp in a medium skillet. Remove with a slotted spoon and reserve. If there is not approximately ¼ cup of fat left in skillet, add additional bacon fat or vegetable oil to make that amount. Add the celery and onion; cook over medium heat for 3 minutes. Add flour, salt, and pepper; cook 2 minutes longer. Add the sugar, vinegar, and water all at once and, stirring with a whisk, bring to a boil and cook one minute. Add the parsley, celery seed, and reserved bacon. Combine; remove from heat.

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Place potatoes in an oiled 13x8x2-inch casserole and pour the dressing over all. Mix very gently so potatoes aren't broken up. Bake for 45 minutes or until the middle of the casserole bubbles. Serves 8 to 10.



DRIED BEEF AND CORN CHOWDER

3 ounces dried beef, cut up
½ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons butter
3 cups diced, peeled potatoes
2 cups frozen corn
1 cup water
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 cups milk
¼ cup flour

Saute dried beef and onions in melted butter 3 minutes. Add potatoes and next six ingredients. Bring to a boil; reduce heat, cover, and simmer until potatoes are tender. Add 3 cups milk. Mix 1 cup milk with flour until smooth. Stir into soup. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Makes 6 (1½ cup) servings.

OLD-FASHIONED SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES

6 cups sifted flour
1½ cups molasses
1 cup sugar
¾ cup corn oil
¾ cup warm water
1½ teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons baking soda

Sift together dry ingredients. Combine sugar, molasses, corn oil, warm water, and vanilla in large bowl. Beat until well blended. Add dry ingredients, mixing to form a soft dough. Chill one hour. Roll out ¼ -inch thick on a floured board, working with a small amount of dough at a time. Cut with a floured 2-inch cutter. Bake on a greased cookie sheet in a 375 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Remove from sheet and cool. Store in tin with apple slices or a slice of fresh bread to keep cookies soft and moist.

HIGH-CAPACITY CHOPPING

No one comes close to the high capacity of the Model 2115 self-propelled forage harvester. The combination of the 350-hp six-cylinder diesel engine and the 30-inch, 12-knife cutterhead can't be beat.

Stop by today and let us show you the many high-capacity features of the Model 2115.

MAKE SHORT WORK OF TALL SILOS

The Model 60 is a big-capacity 540-rpm forage blower built to center-fill silos 100' tall. It features a 37" diameter feed hopper that makes positioning and unloading with cross conveyers easy.

A large 12" feed auger moves crop to the 60" fan for maximum blowing efficiency. The Model 60 forage blower also features:

- Eight adjustable, replaceable paddles
- Heavy-duty, shearbolt protected PTO
- Reversible blower band
- Adjustable air gate
- 9' telescoping pipe
- Adjustable wheels

So reach for the sky with the Model 60 forage blower. Stop in today and we'll show you how to make short work of tall silos.

GAY BROWNLEE

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — The FFA entry of Desirae Hillegass of Berlin was named supreme champion in the Somerset County Fair Dairy Show, an open show.

Hill-A-Way Aerostar Colleen, a senior 2-year-old out of Madawaska Aerostar and Hill-A-Way Laban Gillian-ET, brought home the top Holstein honors for Hillegass. She walked away with the breed's open show senior champion honor and the 4-H and FFA show's senior and grand champion ribbons.

When type judge Patty McMurray from Eighty-Four surveyed the array of breed champions before her, it didn't take her long to say, "You have to go with the cow that milks for 'supreme'."

Philip Petenbrink from Garrett was the owner of the Holstein reserve grand champion, a senior 2-year-old out of Schultzs Brass Bell and Ed-Lon Vintage Joy.

Prides Vera, a winter calf, was the Guernsey grand champion for owner Justin Kaufman of Friedens.

The Guernsey reserve grand champion, owned by Eric Murray of Salisbury, was a spring yearling. The two were that breed's only entries.

Lance Bittner's junior 3-year-old was named the Jersey breed reserve grand champion. Bittner is also from Berlin.

Robert Fritz of Garrett in the open show was the owner of the Brown Swiss breed's top two cows. His Swamp Creek Paula, born Dec. 2, 1988, McMurray named the grand champion and his junior 2-year-old — Swamp Creek Jennifer — the reserve grand champion.

In the 4-H and FFA show, however, Lacey Coleman from Berlin had the grand champion with a spring calf, born March 18, 1996, and Adam Coleman from Berlin had the reserve grand champion Brown Swiss with a fall calf born Sept. 12, 1995.

One point McMurray emphasized to the showmen was that when showing an animal for another person, know the animal. She cited an experience from a show held elsewhere where the kid leading an animal knew nothing at all about it. Worse, the kid wasn't aware that it mattered.

Researchers ID Gene For Plant Resistance

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Researchers at Penn State and at Brookhaven National Laboratory have collaborated to identify a gene that is directly linked with a mechanism of plant resistance to insect pests.

The discovery, which was described in an article published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Science on Aug. 6, could have important implications for agriculture as well as other industries.

David Schultz, who received his Ph.D. in genetics from Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences in May of this year and is a postdoctoral researcher at Michigan State University, identified the gene in collaboration with June Medford, assistant professor of biology and biotechnology in Penn State's Eberly College of Science; Edgar Cahoon and John Shanklin, both biochemists at Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, N.Y.; and Richard Craig, J. Franklin Styer professor of horticultural botany, Diana Cox-Foster, associate professor of entomology and Ralph Mumma, distinguished professor of environmental quality, all in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

The isolation and identification of the gene is the culmination of years of interdisciplinary studies at Penn State, beginning with research looking at the susceptibility of garden geraniums to certain kinds of spider mites and aphids. Since the early 1960s, Penn State scientists have studied thousands of plants to learn what makes some geraniums resistant and others susceptible to pests.

A grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in the late 1980s and a four-year Penn State Intercollege Grant beginning in 1990 supported the highly multidisciplinary research effort, which included horticulturists, plant morphologists, entomologists, geneticists, molecular biologists, and biochemists.

The researchers determined that resistant geraniums produce a viscous material from hairlike structures, called trichomes, on their stems and leaves. This material impedes insects and mites in several ways — by trapping them in the viscous liquid, by killing them outright, and by inhibiting the ability of females to lay eggs. The viscous liquid contains compounds known as unsaturated anacardic acids, which are synthesized from unsaturated fatty acids in plants.

"Trichomes in both resistant and susceptible plants produce anacardic acids, but the difference is that anacardic acids in resistant plants are unsaturated," said Schultz, who did his research in June Medford's laboratory. "Unsaturated anacardic acids form a viscous liquid, like vegetable oil — so they stick to the insects. You can feel these sticky substances on the stems of the resistant geraniums. The saturated anacardic acids found on susceptible plants are more solid, and do not stick to insects."

Before Schultz began his doctoral studies at Penn State in 1992, a group of students and postdoctoral scholars working with Craig and Mumma had identified the two unsaturated fatty acids that were the precursors to the unsaturated anacardic acids in the resistant geraniums. They also knew that a single gene was responsible for the formation of the unsaturated fatty acids. "My role was to find that gene," Schultz said.

Because the researchers knew that the sticky compounds could be found only in the trichomes, they needed a method to obtain large quantities of them. Postdoctoral scholar Ellen Yerger, working in Diana Cox-Foster's laboratory, developed a method of removing the tiny trichomes from the plants so that their genetic makeup could be examined. By freezing the parts of the plant covered with trichomes in liquid nitrogen and then vigorously shaking them, she could get the trichomes to break away from the supporting plant tissue.

"This was crucial for my research because the gene I was looking for could only be found in these trichomes," Schultz said. "It took months to collect enough trichomes so that I could begin my research. Without Ellen's technique, my work would have been impossible."

The type of gene Schultz was looking for encodes a desaturase. "It desaturates the fatty acid, changing its molecular structure by adding a double bond at a specific point along the fatty acid's carbon chain," Schultz said. "I was looking for the desaturase gene that leads to the production of two fatty acids known as 16:1Δ^{11} and 18:1Δ^{11}.

"What we were hunting for was a gene that looked like it had the characteristics to convert fatty acids in precisely the way necessary to create the unsaturated anacardic acids," Schultz said. "We also knew from previous research that this gene would be expressed only in the trichomes of the resistant plants and nowhere else — not in other parts of the plants, and not in the trichomes of the susceptible plants."

Next, Schultz and Medford did RNA assays, which analyzed the expression of genes in the trichomes of resistant geraniums, in those of susceptible geraniums, and in tissue from other parts of the plants. They narrowed the search to two genes that they thought might encode the desaturase responsible for the production of unsaturated fatty acids. "One of the genes was a perfect match," said Medford. "We found it only in the trichomes of the resistant plants, and nowhere else. The gene was present in all resistant plants regardless of whether they were parents, hybrids or progeny from our genetic experiments. We were pretty sure this was our gene."

But the researchers needed more evidence before they could say that this definitely was the desaturase gene they were looking for. "We next had to follow up with a biochemical evaluation," said Schultz. "That is, we needed to insert the gene into some type of living tissue and see if it actually would convert the saturated fatty acids to unsaturated fatty acids, leading to the production of the sticky material in the resistant geraniums."

The researchers had planned to insert the gene into plant tissue and look for the formation of these fatty acids, a time-consuming study involving growing the plants to maturity. But in December 1994, at a conference in Annapolis, Md., Medford met biochemist John Shanklin, who worked at Brookhaven National Laboratory. "This was extremely lucky for us, because it just so happened that he was working with a method of desaturase gene expression using the bacterium E. coli," Medford said.

"Because E. coli very quickly expresses genes that are inserted into it, using this method can considerably speed up some genetic research," said plant biochemist Edgar Cahoon, who works in Shanklin's lab. "Our research fit perfectly with the study being conducted at Penn State."

Teaming up with Shanklin and Cahoon enabled the Penn State researchers to insert the gene into E. coli, allowing it to be expressed in the bacterium and resulting in the production of two unsaturated fatty acids new to the E. coli. The researchers then isolated enzymes from the E. coli and placed them in contact with various saturated fatty acid substrates. The interaction of the enzymes with the proper substrate showed whether the gene encoded a functional desaturase and identified the preferred substrate.

"We expected the desaturase encoded by our gene to act on the saturated fatty acids known as palmitic (16:0) acid and stearic (18:0) acid," said Schultz. "We discovered that the pathway actually was more complex. Instead of desaturating these two fatty acids, the gene encoded a protein that acted on a different fatty acid, known as myristic acid (14:0) and converted it to one called myristoleic acid (14:1Δ^{9}). This fatty acid was then converted into the 16:1 Δ^{11} and 18:1 Δ^{11} fatty acids by the elongation of 14:1Δ^{9}. The behavior of the desaturase was somewhat different from what we expected, but the outcome showed that we definitely had identified the desaturase gene associated with plant resistance. I see this as the first step in defining one pathway of pest resistance in plants at the molecular level."

Penn State is currently in the process of patenting the use of this gene, which could have applications for both agriculture and industry. When more genes that play a role in this mechanism of plant resistance are identified, plant geneticists may be able to transfer the mechanism to important crops such as tomatoes and potatoes. "These plants are members of the Solanaceae family, and have similar trichomes," said Medford. "Making tomatoes and potatoes more resistant to certain pests would be extremely helpful for growers. In addition, understanding the mechanism of pest resistance will greatly benefit plant breeding and integrated pest management programs."

Another application could benefit both agriculture and industries that require specialized oils. "These oils are expensive to manufacture, but they might be produced far more cheaply in plants or in microorganisms," said Medford. "This could help farmers, who could grow crops that produce these specialty oils."

"The faculty at Penn State did a truly admirable job over the years of combining individuals with complementary talents and abilities in this research program," said Andrew Benon, professor emeritus of marine biology at Scripps Institute of Oceanography, University of California at San Diego. "The result is that Schultz and others have built on the past research and have made a briliant discovery."

"This is research at its best — it makes profound contributions to both basic and applied science," said Stuart Patton, Evan Pugh professor emeritus of agriculture at Penn State, who informally reviewed the researchers' paper. "This team was highly ingenious in relating genetics and lipid biochemistry to insecticidal properties of unique fatty acids in geraniums."

"One individual could not have accomplished this all alone," said Schultz. "No one scientist could have all the skills or knowledge necessary — not to mention there are decades of research leading up to the discovery. It was truly a collaborative effort, and being part of it was a great learning experience."

Changes In Store For Angus Herd

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Dr. Thomas A. Fretz, dean of the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources at the University of Maryland at College Park, has announced that major changes will be made to the Wye Angus beef herd beginning Sept. 1. The herd is located at the college's Wye Research and Education Center near Queenstown.

The beef herd changes are designed to ensure full utilization of the herd for the improvement of Maryland's beef industry. They will be overseen by Dr. Scott Barao, associate professor of animal sciences, who will assume programmatic responsibility for the herd.

During the next year:

• The size of the base herd will be reduced to a level better matched to the college's available resources. The cow herd will be reconfigured to more closely reflect the unique germplasm base developed by Jim Lingle and gifted to the university by Arthur Houghton.

• The 1997 Wye Sale will include a larger than usual offering of select Wye-based females. Future sales will occur as needed based on the availability of excess females or superior genetics that will benefit Maryland's cattle industry.

• An open Maryland Bull Test Station will be established at the Wye REC in 1997. Details concerning the test will be made available this winter.

• An industry advisory committee will be formed to ensure close communication and collaboration between the Maryland beef cattle industry and the university.

The beef cattle research program conducted at the college's Wye Research and Education Center will focus on addressing both current and future needs of the industry.

"We have a unique opportunity to pursue important beef research using a forage-based cow/calf production system with a highly defined genetic base," said Barao. "We will build our efforts around the concept of integrated resource management (IRM), and we anticipate creating a beef research, extension and teaching program that will be highly productive and responsive to the needs of our citizens."

Eddie Draper, along with Dr. Russell Brinsfield, center head of the Wye REC, will assist Barao in these efforts by assuming day-to-day responsibility of the Wye herd. Draper has worked with the herd for 10 years and is looking forward to being a part of a viable and active research program

RIDGE FIRE COMPANY PAVILION
Along Rt. 23, Between Phoenixville, PA and Rt. 100

Welcome to our first train auction for the second half of 1996! If you are into pre-war trains, you'll enjoy this one. Condition varies greatly. Plenty of Standard Gage, Dorfan and Dorfan parts. Impressive live steam 2-1/2" gage Hudson loco, plus other steam. We have a busy last quarter ahead. Check our calendar!

Lionel Std gage: Peacock 10E Loco w/332,339 & 341 Pass., Full Line of 200 & 500 Series Frt. Cars. Early 402 Loco w/418, 419 & 490 Pass., 384 E Loco w/2 Tone Brn. 309, 312 Pass., 1835 Loco w/309, 310 & 312 blue/Alum Pass., 115 Lionel station, 437 Switch Signal Tower, retored Blue 400 E Loco, Orig. Blue 420, 421, 422 Comet Cars, 390E Loco w/Boxes, 408E Loco w/418, 419, 431 & 490 Apple Grn. Pass., 9E Loco, 2 Tone Grn. 424, 425 & 426 Girard pass., 392 E Loco, Redone Gray w/copper Trim. Several 29 Day Coaches. Good Selection of Early Trains that need to be Restored. Auction Includes Ives 'O' & Std. Ga. Trains, Flyer 'S' Ga. Trains and Post-war Lionel 'O' Ga. Trains. Even 'N' Gage. However, we are proudest of the Dorfan Trains that we have been given from the George Fisher Collection, Reading, PA. George was a close personal friend, and Dorfan trains are pretty hard to find. This sale also has assorted books on Railroading, some decent HO stuff, and plenty of accessories.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

This has certainly been a good summer for growing vegetables. Maybe just a bit too wet as a few things rotted, but, generally, we had an over abundance.

Never have I given away so much produce. For one thing we had 24 heads of cabbage. Many were shared with neighbors. Some were used for frozen cole slaw which is one of my favorite relishes.

For the first time I grew a zucchini called a "Roly Poly." These two were given to friends far and wide. Even I got some new recipes to use them in casseroles and also in desserts.

My husband planted sweet corn five different times and so we have been freezing corn for weeks. Of course, this gives us fresh corn and so he can have corn-on-the-cob everyday. I like it too, but not everyday.

I've planted seven kinds of beans and so have a continual supply. Some have scarlet blossoms, some lavendar blossoms, and some just plain white ones. Our grandson likes to help me pick them and when we are finished we sit for a bit under the trees near the well. Work is more enjoyable when you have someone to share it with you. Now the baby limas and the pole limas are both ready to be harvested.

It is almost September and then I start canning as Allen tells me that he likes fruit a lot. This month will be peaches, pears, and plums by the basket. The only one that takes a lot of time are the pears as they must be carefully peeled.

When the shelves are full and the freezers too, we can sit back and enjoy a wintertime of good eating.

Somerset Fair Queen Presides

Natalie Welch, Somerset Fair queen, and state representative William R. Lloyd of the 69th District discovered, while chatting at the Somerset County Fair's 4-H dairy bar, that they share a love of milkshakes.

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — The 1996 Somerset County Fair was presided over by fair queen Natalie Welch, 19 of Berlin, following the queen's coronation on Sunday night, August 18.

The title was accompanied by a scholarship of $1,000. Natalie, who is entering her sophomore year at the Bob Jones University and majoring in chemistry, couldn't pass an opportunity to try and win it for this worthy cause.

She knew too that if she won, the commitment, unlike others she has experienced (county and state dairy princess), would end when the fair closed. Until, of course, her crown is passed to another winner when the next Somerset Agricultural Fair gets under way in 1997.

"It was good because I knew I could go right through and leave on Sunday for college," she said of her anticipated journey to the warmer climates of Greenville, S.C., where the university is located.

Melissa Miller, 16, of Berlin, and Kami Hillegass, 17, of Fairhope, were also contestants.

Their parents are Dave and Cindy Miller and Dan and Karen Hillegass. David and Connie Welch are Natalie's parents.

NC+ Hybrids Incorporates Biotech To Lineup

LINCOLN, Neb. — NC+ has just released one of its strongest overall product lineups in the company's 38-year history, according to NC+ President Gary Duncan.

"From corn and soybeans to forages and alfalfa, we have strong yield performers as well as value-added features like higher oil and protein levels," he said. "This year we're also offering some of the best biotechnology advancements recently developed by the seed industry."

NC+ will complete final testing of Liberty™ Link™ corn this year and will have limited amounts of the bioengineered hybrids commercially available for 1997, Duncan said. These hybrids carry a gene which confers resistance to AgrEvo's new post-emergent herbicide, Liberty. NC+ Liberty Link hybrids include 3544LL, 4799LL and 5277LL.

The company is also another step closer to corn borer resistant Bt corn hybrids, he said. NC+ will test Bt hybrids in 1997 and plans to have limited supplies of commercial Bt hybrids by 1998.

The nine new NC+ corn releases for 1997 include yield leaders, white hybrids, hybrids with higher protein, as well as hybrids that excel at higher populations. NC+ new corn releases include: 2395 (99 days): yield leader with superb standability and excellent drydown, 3588 (106 days): very rapid drydown and excels at higher populations, 3613 (107 days): high protein levels and improved ear retention, 3869 (107 days): strong agronomic package with excellent yields, 4646 (110 days): excellent standability and consistent performance with top yields, 4880 (111 days): good standability and fast drydown with strong yield potential, 5633W (113 days): white hybrid with excellent yields and very good drydown, 7101W (117 days): White hybrid with outstanding yield potential, and 7881 (120 days): outstanding dual-purpose hybrid with superb stress tolerance.

NC+ new soybean varieties include releases from every maturity except Group 5 as well as four Roundup Ready™ varieties.

"I'm proud to announce we are entering the Roundup Ready soybean market with four new Roundup Ready varieties," said Duncan. Each of these releases contain Monsanto's Roundup Ready gene and are resistant to postemergent application of Roundup herbicide.

NC+ has also released a new STS soybean variety, 2A55STS, which is specifically bred to tolerate certain herbicides in the sulfonyl family. In total, NC+ is offering 11 new soybean varieties: 1A48 (Mid Group I): superior stress tolerance, adapted to all row widths; 2A55STS (Mid Group II): tolerant to SU herbicides and adapted to no-till environments; 2A76RR (Mid Group II): Roundup Ready, with very good tolerance to brown stem rot; 2A96RR (Late Group II): Roundup Ready, with phytophthora resistance; 2A99 (Very Late Group II): excellent yields and very good no-till emergence; 3A26 (Early Group III): Excellent stress tolerance with resistance to brown stem rot and phytophthora; 3A66RR (Mid Group III): Roundup Ready, with phytophthora resistance; 3A67 (Mid-Late Group III): very good emergence with phytophthora resistance; 3A96 (Early Group III): very good standability and SCN resistance; 4A16RR (Early Group IV): Roundup Ready, with excellent emergence; and 4A47 (Mid Group IV); very good emergence. Excels in tough conditions.

NC+ has added two excellent silage forage sorghums to its 1997 product releases. "These two products really help round out a very solid product lineup," Duncan said. They are Nutri-Ton (110-120 days to harvest): moderately tall, fertile forage hybrid with a high leaf-to-stalk ratio and Nutri-Choice II (105-115 days to harvest): fertile semi-dwarf forage sorghum. It has excellent stalk quality for improved harvestability.

"We've also improved our alfalfa line with the release of Jade II," said Duncan. This excellent alfalfa has the same outstanding yields as the original Jade, but has even higher feeding qualities. Its high leaf-to-stem ratio boosts yield and feed value. Jade II seed will be available for planting in the spring of 1997.

Welytok Joins Pennfield

Mark Welytok

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Mark Welytok joined the Pennfield feed marketing sales team on June 24 as a dairy consultant for Oneida and Madison counties in New York.

Welytok was graduated from the State University of New York at Cobleskill with a bachelor's degree in animal science. He has been in the dairy feed sales business for several years.

He will recommend and consult with dairy producers on the proper application of feed management techniques to increase profitability.

Eby Completes Export Order

M.H. Eby, Inc. has manufactured eight specially designed livestock trailers for export to the Ukraine.

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — M.H. Eby, Inc. has manufactured eight specially designed livestock trailers for export to the Ukraine.

The 45 feet long x 96 feet wide x 13 feet high trailers will be used to haul cattle and sheep from agricultural areas around Kiev to nearby ports for export to other countries.

The equipment, representing one of Eby's largest orders to date, was purchased by the Austrian office of Agrarimpex. The company is a leading international transporter of cattle and distributor of livestock transportation equipment. Agrarimpex, in turn, resold the Eby trailers to a Lebanese livestock hauler in Kiev.

The Eby trailers were designed and constructed with several features for the European market:

- Three axles with specially sized wheels.
- Low deck clearances with Kemply roofs for protection from horned cattle. Decks can also be added for hauling sheep.
- Wheel hubs are set up for future installation of anti-lock brake.
- Trailer lights operate on a 24 volt system.

In June, Eby successfully completed "first article" inspection of the trailers, with the remainder of the order delivered in late August to the Port of Baltimore. The company is also pursuing other export sales opportunities.

Loader Breaks New Ground

The Farmhand GL545 self-leveling hydraulic loader is designed to work with both 2WD and FWA tractors.

ATLANTA, Ga. — With the introduction of the GL545 hydraulic self-leveling loader, Farmhand is breaking new ground.

This low profile, high visibility Quick-Tach loader has been specifically designed to fit 2WD tractors from 30 to 120 hp and FWA tractors from 30 to 60 hp.

"The GL545's most impressive feature is the two-way hydraulic self-leveling system that can be field installed in just a few steps," said Kevin Lund, marketing manager, Farmhand. "This system offers peak performance without the higher profile and added pivot points, grease fittings, and linkages used in mechanical self-leveling systems."

To activate the system, slave cylinders with hydraulic displacement proportional to the tilt cylinders are placed on the loader. When the lift boom is raised, and lowered, the oil is displaced between the slave cylinders and the tilt cylinders. This proportional displacement causes the bucket to maintain the same angular relationship to the ground.

The GL545 loader can lift 3,100 pounds to 10 feet 4 inches with a 4,200-pound breakaway. It has a typical digging depth of 4 inches, a 22-degree bucket rollback, and 38-degree dump angle.

Torque Tube Design Provides Enhanced Structural Strength

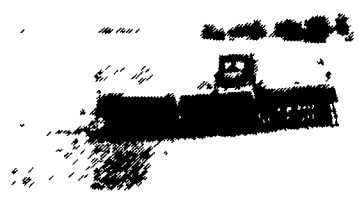
Land Pride offers a line of heavy duty loaders available in three different models for tractors ranging from 18 to 65 horsepower.

SALINA, Kan. — Land Pride offers a line of heavy duty loaders available in three different models for tractors ranging from 18 to 65 horsepower.

Constructed for use in a variety of applications, the TL Series loaders are designed for landscape, nursery, light agricultural maintenance, or livestock management. An optional heavy-duty bucket with enhanced construction and a large capacity load is also available. A custom fit is ensured with mounting kits available for most tractor models.

The oblong torque tube design provides enhanced structural strength to the loader. Units feature single point control and a fully adjustable joystick for a custom fit to any tractor. A high visibility leveling rod provides quick visual reference. Mounting procedure is designed for quick and simple use. TL Series loaders are painted to match all tractor lines to which they will be mounted.

Drill Has Large Seedbox Capacity



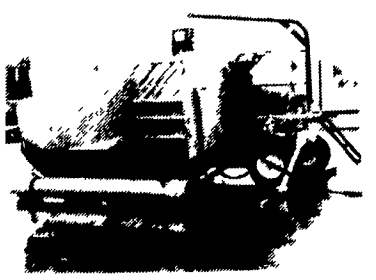
Great Plains introduces their new 30-foot folding drill, the 3000-3S. It features hydraulically controlled down pressure with independent adjustment of between the wings and center sections.

SALINA, Kan. — Great Plains introduces their new 30-foot folding drill, the 3000-3S. It features hydraulically controlled down pressure with independent adjustment of between the wings and center sections. This allows down pressure to be increased behind the tracks, without burying the seed planted with the wing sections. This feature also permits the openers to be lifted without lifting the drill, resulting in quicker lift response and turning.

The 3000-3S has a 3.24 bu/ft seedbox capacity and a fluted feed seeding system. With a 20-degree upward flex and a 15-degree downward flex, the unit offers unmatched performance in its ability to flex and follow contours in undulating ground. Designed for ease of transport, the 3000-3S features a narrow, 15 foot transport width.

Standard equipment for the 3000-3S includes box fill indicators, v-bottom box dividers, ladder, extra-wide walkboard, and safety lights.

Bagger Has 8-Foot Wide Feedtable

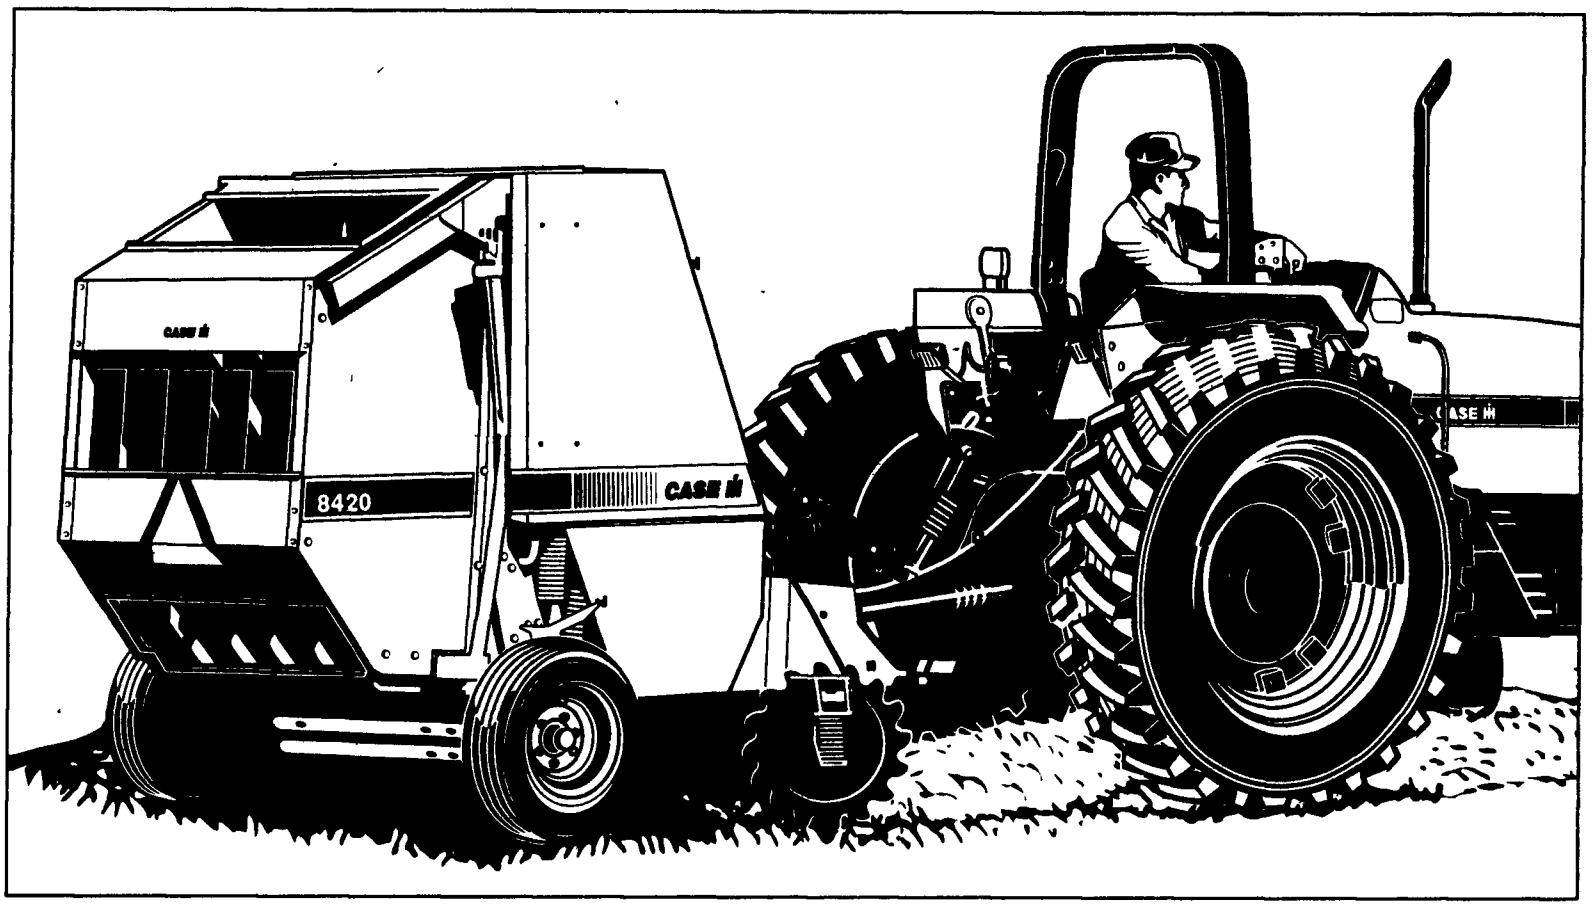


Ag-Bag International Limited® announces the development of its new bagger, the Model G6700. This is a feedtable model machine designed use with rear-unload wagons or dump trucks.

WARRENTON, Ore. — Ag-Bag International Limited® announces the development of its new bagger, the Model G6700. This is a feedtable model machine designed use with rear-unload wagons or dump trucks.

The G6700 has a 7-foot wide rotor and an 8-foot wide feedtable. Available with either an 8-foot or 9-foot bag tunnel, the G6700 has a capacity of handling 3-4 tons per minute. Powered through the 540 PTO of your tractor and its hydraulics, this machine requires a 70-90 hp tractor.

Big Bales, Big Value



If You're in the Market For a Round Baler, Make Sure You Look At the Case IH 8420

* Many standard features you might pay extra for with other machines — features like dual tension arms, side-mounted gathering wheels, centrally-located drive system, bale counter, mechanical bale-full alert and a "tailgate latched" indicator.
* Make up to a 550-pound bale. Requires just 30 PTO horsepower.
* And, big value. You can probably buy a new 8420 for what other used models would cost you.

And, you get more than an economical baler. We are committed to providing genuine, value-priced Case IH parts, professional and reliable service, and flexible financing.

10 Counties Participate In First District Show

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

MARTINSBURG (Blair Co.) — 4-H and FFA members from Blair, Bedford, Huntingdon, Fulton, Cambria, Clearfield, Centre, Juniata, Mifflin, and Somerset counties participated in the first district show held at Martinsburg on Friday, Aug. 2.

Tom Ritchey, chairman of the event, said, "We had an overwhelming response to this first-time show with 413 animals participating."

Blue ribbon winners at the combined FFA and 4-H event will move onto state competition in September.

Prior to this year, only the 4-H portion of the competition was held in Martinsburg.

Blue, red, and white ribbons as well as Master Showmen rosettes were presented by dairy princesses from Huntington, Blair, and Bedford counties.

David Kocher showed the grand champion Holstein, Hearts Desire Jethro Carla. Kocher is from Pennsylvania Furnace. Showing the reserve grand champion Holstein was Amanda Cessna, with Brush-Creek Vu Raidr Secret. Cessna lives in Everett.

Brandy Horning, Huntingdon, showed the grand champion Brown Swiss, Towpath Elation Pepsi. Brandy lives in the town of Huntingdon but travels to the nearby farm of Jim and Kim Grove to tend her 18 Brown Swiss.

A graduate of Huntingdon High School, Brandy will attend Juniata College and continue to take care of her own cattle.

Gretchen Yaple and Yaples Racheals Ruby took grand champion awards in Ayrshire competition. A graduate of Moshannon Valley High School, Gretchen will attend Penn State University this fall.

She is the Pennsylvania Ayrshire princess.

James Young, New Enterprise, showed the grand champion, Innisfall RB Edda, and the reserve grand, Three Springs Courtney. Young also took grand champion at the Bedford Fair as well as reserve supreme with Edda.

Edda has taken awards as a reserve All American and junior champion at the Canadian Royal Fair.

Young plans to attend Penn State University to study dairy science.

HONESDALE (Wayne Co.) — Recently, local 4-H'ers successfully offered 317 animals for sale at the Wayne County Junior Livestock Auction at the Wayne County Fairgrounds.

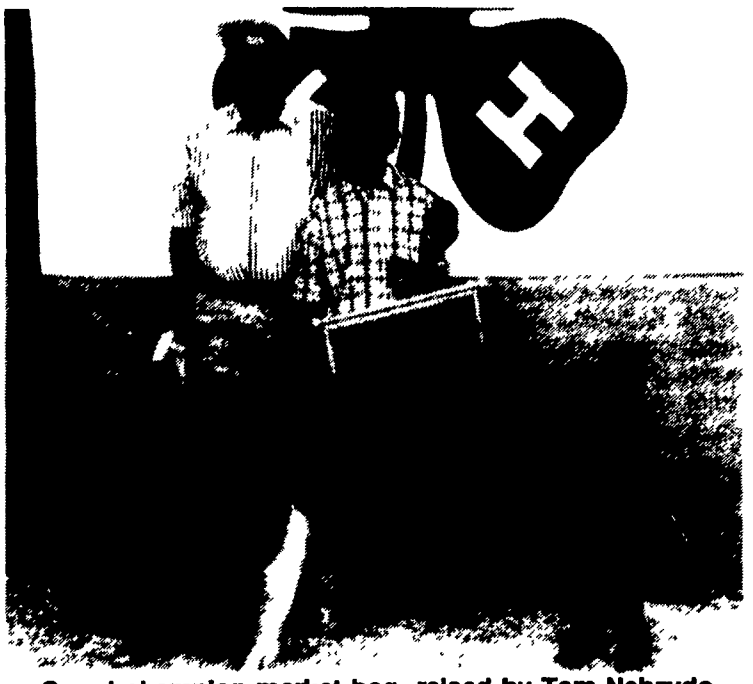
Grand champion market lamb raised by Christina Korb was purchased by Dr. Henry Nebzydoski for $10 per pound.

Auctioneer Wayne Weaver started the sale by calling Wayne County's 4-H'ers "the greatest bunch of kids in the world." Buyers support overwhelmingly echoed agreement with that statement. Auctioneer Weaver volunteered his services, along with auctioneers Dick Sands, John Regan, and Bob Earl.

The sale's volume buyer in dollars was Waymart Milling Co., which continuously bid for the benefit of youth throughout the sale, spending more than $5,000 on eight animals. Three other buyers purchased the sale's top number of animals with 10 each. They are John Petroski, W.J. Reining and Sons, Inc., and Hatfield Quality Meats.

The first animal presented for auction was the 247-pound homebred grand champion market hog raised by Tom Nebzydoski, a sixth grader and a member of the Pleasant Mount Go-Getters 4-H Club. This animal was purchased by Wayne Bank for a record $10.25 per pound.

The reserve grand champion hog was raised by Peter Nebzydoski, also of the Pleasant Mount Go-Getters. Waymart Milling purchased this animal for $5.50 per pound.



Grand champion market hog, raised by Tom Nebzydoski, went to buyer Wayne Bank for $10.25/pound.

Market steer champion, raised by Holly Marshall, was sold to The Family School for $1.70 per pound.

Christina Korb, this year's Wayne County Fair Queen, sold her grand champion market lamb to Dr. Henry Nebzydoski, veterinarian, for a record lamb price of $10 per pound.

The reserve grand champion lamb was raised by 11-year-old Jocelyn Grossman of Honesdale and purchased by Marshall Machinery for $4.20 per pound.

Holly Marshall's homebred grand champion market steer was a black Angus that was bought by the Family School, Honesdale, for $1.70 per pound. Holly is a member of the Laurella 4-H Club and will be a Penn State University student this fall.

Tim Olver raised the reserve grand champion steer, an Angus that was purchased for $1.20 per pound by Narrowsburg Feed and Grain. Tim is a member of the Tri-Gal 4-H Club and will enter Penn State University in the fall.

Ten animals were returned for resale to benefit 4-H.

Tioga County Junior Livestock Sale Raises Nearly $17,000

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Tioga Co. Correspondent

WHITNEYVILLE (Tioga Co.) — A combined junior livestock and milk auction raised nearly $17,000 to benefit 4-H and FFA members and the youth programs at the Tioga County Fair held recently.

Tim Kaltenback served as the auctioneer for the seven market steers, 29 market hogs, 14 market lambs, and five gallons of milk which went through the sale.

The grand champion raised by Brandon Reed of Tioga commanded the highest price at $1.10 per pound. The 1,305-pound steer was purchased by Cornell Brother's Agway.

The next high selling steer was the reserve grand champion sold by Debby Briggs of Westfield. Her 1,141-pound animal was purchased for $1 per pound by Northeastern Farm Credit.

Bringing the top price was the grand champion raised by Tim Helf, of Knoxville. Hatfield Quality Meats purchased the 268-pound hog for $2.50 per pound.

Bringing the next highest price was the reserve grand champion hog purchased by Northeastern Farm Credit. Traci Webster of Wellsboro raised the 258-pound hog, which sold for $2.10 per pound.

Also sold was a donated hog which brought a total of $547.55 after being sold three times to benefit the hog barn building project. Judson's Inc., Walker's Tire Service, and Hatfield Quality Meats each bid on the hog.

The 14 lambs brought a total of $1,980.03.

Citizens and Northern Bank was the high bidder on the grand champion lamb sold by Bryan Fitch of Roaring Branch. His 104-pound lamb brought $4.50 per pound.

The reserve grand champion lamb was purchased by Brook's Forest Products. The lamb, raised by Lisa Fitch, tipped the scales at 99 pounds and sold for $2.50 per pound.

Also bringing 2.50 per pound was a 102-pound lamb raised by Tricia McIlwain, which was purchased by Pelton Trucking.

The grand champion steer was purchased by Cornell Brothers Agway for $1.10 per pound. Shown are Steve Cornell and Brandon Reed.

Thomas, who served as the Tioga County extension agent for 33 years prior to his 1989 retirement, spent many hours working with youth and adults at various shows and on many projects. The center consists of a six-stall parlor, a pipeline, bulk tank, and full washing facilities.

Because it meets all state inspection guidelines, milk gathered from the show animals can be sold to a local milk cooperative. The center was made possible through contributions from the Thomas family, a state educational grant, and many other businesses and individuals.

The fair's dairy committee, consisting of Ernest Norman, Arnold Avery, Dr. David Reese, Janelle Davis, and J. Craig Williams also contributed many hours to the project. Shown with Thomas are Tioga County Dairy Princess Lisa Fitch, 1995 Tioga County Fair Queen Laura Fitch, and Alternate Dairy Princess Jennifer Johnson.

Gallons of milk sold in a decorated jug from the grand champion dairy animals were sold in Tioga County's sixth annual milk auction. Milk from the grand champion Holstein brought the top price. Judson's Inc. purchased the milk from Olivia Courtney of Mansfield for $300.

Middlebury Co-Op purchased the next high seller for $275. A gallon of goodies was sold in place of milk from Bradley Wales' grand champion Milking Shorthorn, which was shown dry.

Following close behind was milk from the grand champion Jersey shown by Cathleen Norman of Liberty. That gallon was purchased by Reed's Feed Mill for $250.

Judson's Inc. purchased the milk from the grand champion Guernsey shown by David Kriner for $175.

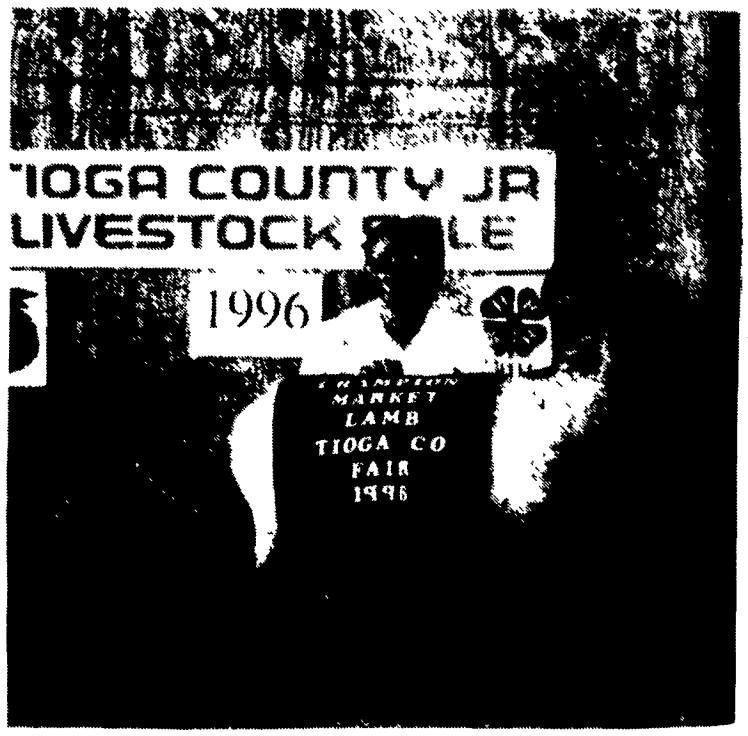
Lowest on the price list was the milk from the grand champion Ayrshire shown by Stefanie Long. That milk was purchased by Pelton Trucking for $100.

Money from the milk auction is split between the 4-H or FFA member, the individual's 4-H club or FFA chapter, and the county 4-H or FFA program.

Pelton Trucking was the high volume buyer at the annual sale, purchasing three lambs, one hog, and one gallon of milk.

Opening their pocketbook the widest in support of the youth program was Cornell Brothers Agway of Middlebury Center. They contributed $1,961.08 in their purchase of one steer, two hogs, and one lamb.

Also high dollar buyers were Northeast Farm Credit with a total sale bill of $1,682.80 for their purchase of one steer and one hog; Hatfield Quality Meats, which purchased four hogs for $1,362.47; and First Citizens Bank, which purchased one steer, one hog, and one lamb for a total price of $1,224.63.



Nick Heff, representing Citizens and Northern Bank, purchased the grand champion market lamb exhibited by Bryan Fitch.

Hatfield Packing, represented by Gilbert Harris, was the buyer of the grand champion market hog sold by Tim Helf.

More Than 200 Animals At Northeast Pa. District 4-H Dairy Show

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

MESHOPPEN (Wyoming Co.) — More than 200 dairy animals from six dairy breeds competed at the 49th annual Northeast Pennsylvania District Dairy Show held at the Wyoming County Fairgrounds Saturday, Aug. 17.

Judges for the two-ring show included Creedin Comman and Irene Osborne in the Holstein ring and Ronald Daubert and Lisa Sonnen in the colored breed circle. Osborne and Sonnen each had the task of judging showmanship and fitting.

Nicholas Wolf's 4-year-old took high honors in the Holstein show as the massive black cow, Pen-Col Leadman Dewdrop-ET, was named the grand champion for the day. Following behind was a similar bodied cow from the six years and over class. Spreng Longacre Brandy-ET, owned by Scott Woodmansee, was named the reserve grand champion.

Ty-Ly-View Couns Shasta, a junior calf owned by Monica Knowlden, had her day in the sun as she was selected to be the junior champion. Following her in the reserve junior champion position was Kendal Miller with her summer yearling, Frechens Charles Amy.

In the Jersey arena, Normandell Jedd Payge, an 89-point senior 2-year-old owned by Cathleen Norman, swept up the glory as she was named the grand champion of the show. Following her was Marshfield Imperial Moira, a deep bodied senior 3-year-old owned by Heather Pease.

A brother sister team captured the titles of junior and reserve junior champion in the Jersey show. Kimberly Barker's fall yearling, Jer-Sweet Yankee Lucky, was named the junior champion while Kent Barker's Jer-Sweet Malcolm Gems Sapphire was named the reserve junior champion.

Named the senior and grand champion in the Milking Shorthorn show was Connie Zebrowski's senior 3-year-old, Walnut Hollows Bess. Senior calf Blue Devils Amy Lynn, owned by Bradley Wales, was named the junior and reserve grand champion. The reserve junior champion was CJMZ Bess's Jubilee, a winter calf owned by Connie Zebrowski.

Brian Sharer's 4-year-old rose to the top of the Ayrshire show as the animal, Bonnieshade JJ Clover, was named the grand champion. Standing in the reserve position was Raymond Adam's 5-year-old, B.E.K.A. Daffy's Duckie.

Filling the junior champion slot was Kylie Lester's fall calf, Sunny-Acres Moon Gem. Justin Sprout showed the reserve junior champion, fall yearling Blue Meadow Miss Violet.

Among the calves and heifers, winter yearling Buttos Horizon Hattie, owned by Jacob Tomlinson was named the junior champion. Tru-Dale Dotson Kaitlyn, a winter calf owned by Connie Zebrowski, was named the reserve junior

New Hybrids Resist Corn Borer

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Northrup King Co. Bt corn was approved for commercial sale in the United States by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

European corn borer-resistant hybrids, available for 1997 planting, will provide "built-in" protection against a pest that is estimated to cost corn farmers up to $1 billion annually as a result of decreased yields.

EPA approval arrives amid current corn supply concerns, according to Ed Shonsey, Northrup King president and CEO. Low corn production in 1995 left grain stocks in the U.S. at record lows. This season's harvest estimates have also been reduced because of the cold, wet spring and summer, as well as by severe corn borer infestations in many parts of the Corn Belt.

Bt corn will help farmers harvest more of their crop in 1997, should corn borers strike, and will also help replenish grain supplies.

"THE NEED FOR QUALITY FEED AND GRAIN STORAGE IS GREATER TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME IN RECENT HISTORY!"

How can we help to make sure that you get a quality corn storage unit constructed before the expected rush in August and September?

Give us a call to discuss early discounts, financing, and unloaders.

Listen to what these farmers from VA say about their switch to a poured concrete silo for their hi-moisture shelled corn storage: "Even during the hottest summer in our memory, the shelled corn from our poured concrete silo has kept its bright yellow color and has not heated. We have the best hi-moisture shelled corn ever."

ATTENTION FARMERS
Please don't get carried away by filling your silo with silage that is too wet. It is important that your distributor is in good condition and set right for even distribution. Too much wet silage or separation in your silo can cause your silo to fall over or make it lean over. Check your silo & see if silo is a safe structure to fill. Deterioration of concrete also can cause your silo to fall over. REMEMBER your silo will not fall over when empty, only when full. Also be careful with all silage gases this year.

WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when it's empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy.

Now is the time to check your unloaders, cables and silo walls. Cables should be replaced every 10 years.

For best results, check your distributor & pipe for holes before silo filling

5" & 6" K-Style Alum. Seamless Gutter, 32 Colors

You Rise Up Early When You Live On A Farm.
The Chores are all waiting as you enter the barn.
Soon you will leave and go into the house, your breakfast is waiting, made by your spouse.
Now before you go out, I have something to say.
I was cleaning upstairs, the other day. Some won't go up, others just fall down, you can feel the cold air blowing all around. Look at these windows, how easy to clean, a house full of these would fulfill my dream. Why don't we call them, they look so nice there is no charge for giving a price.

That's Right, Call Sensenig Today.

TIRED OF LEAKING ROOFING? USE

WHEELING Channeldrain

ROOFING & SIDING

Exclusive drain channel guards against wind, rain and snow...assures dryness.

1. Wide overlap: Increases strength and leak protection at each joint.
2. Wide nailing surface: Makes nailing easier and faster.
3. Drain channel: the exclusive leak-proof system that prevents capillary action; stays weather tight. This Wheeling feature has insured "dry barns" for thousands of farmers over the past 50 years.

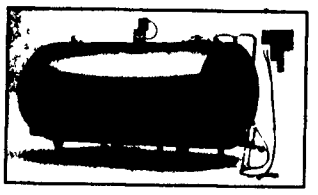
And...

MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31,000	$28,000
Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22,850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48,550	$50,850
Savings	$ 2,300

INTRODUCING...

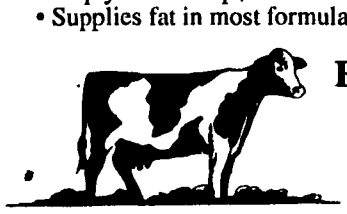
SWEETCAKE 16NU

FEED SUPPLEMENT BLOCKS FOR THE LIVESTOCK INDUSTRY

• High Natural Protein • No Urea • Fat Enhanced
• Balanced Supplementation • Safe For All Livestock Classes

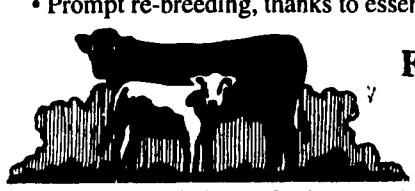
Sweetcake Advantages

- Aids in making the best use of your available forage
- Promotes a more even herd consumption, with 24-hour availability to all cattle
- Reduces labor to save you money and give you more time to make important management decisions
- Supplies much-needed vitamins and minerals that forage lacks to help your cattle perform to their genetic potential
- Supplies fat in most formulations to enhance energy intake



For Dairy

- Replacement heifers that grow out soundly and economically
- Body condition on dry cows so they can return to lactation, producing at the maximum potential
- Healthier herds, with essential trace minerals that help prevent metritis, retained placenta and other health problems
- Prompt re-breeding, thanks to essential nutrients



For Beef

- Stronger, healthier calves at birth
- Heavier Calves at weaning
- Cows that cycle better for improved conception rates
- Cows that milk better to raise a better calf

- AVAILABLE IN 200 LB. SIZE -

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The Lancaster Conservation district is requesting bids for the construction of an Agricultural Waste Management System, to be funded in part by the Chesapeake Bay Program. The site is located in Strasburg Township.

Prospective contractors can receive a bid package, which contains Instruction to Bidders, the Plans for the Project, and a Bid Sheet. Construction standards and specifications are contained in the Contractor's Handbook, Pennsylvania Chesapeake Bay Program, dated January 1996. These are to be considered part of the contract package, and need to be used during project installation.

Small and minority businesses and women's business enterprises are encouraged to respond to this invitation for bids.

The site showing will take place on Tuesday, September 10, 1996, 9:00 a.m. at the project site. Sealed bids will be accepted until the public bid opening in the Conference Room of the Farm & Home Center on September 24, 1996 at 9:00 a.m.

Bid packages and/or the Contractor's Handbook will be available at site showings, or by contacting the Lancaster County Conservation district office at:

Farm and Home Center, Room 6
1383 Arcadia Road
Lancaster, PA 17601

IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT

M.H Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

Country Homes/Land

Not far from the PA State Forest lands, this rustic cabin sports a finished basement, loft, spacious living area. One acre of hilltop ground just big enough to enjoy the country views. $49,500.

Wide open spaces are reflected inside & out of this country contemporary. Generous-sized windows fill the great room with light and views; ten acre setting allows for plenty of outside activities. Newer construction, hardtop road frontage.

96'X160' free stall barn w/attached 52'x54' double five parlor, two 20x80 Harvestors and two 30x70 concrete stave silos are just the basics of this 200+ acre dairy farm. Shop barn, dry cow barn, and farmhouse - a complete dairy operation for the serious farmer.

Still under construction, this country-style contemporary offers privacy, 6 acres, two-car garage. Interior sports cathedral ceiling, large dining room, superior insulation for cozy winter comfort. Make an offer!

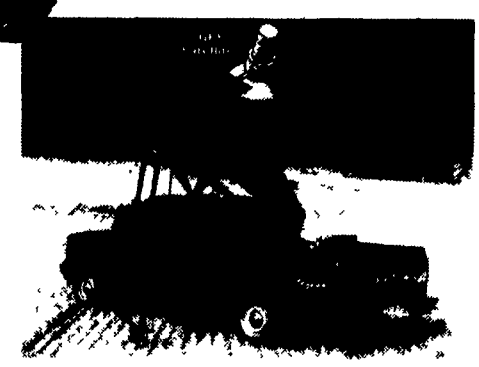
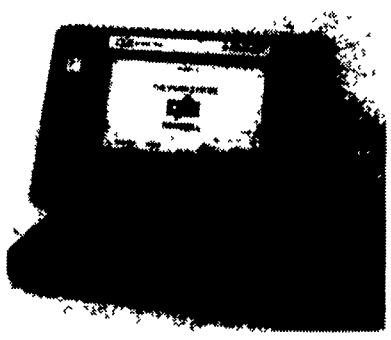
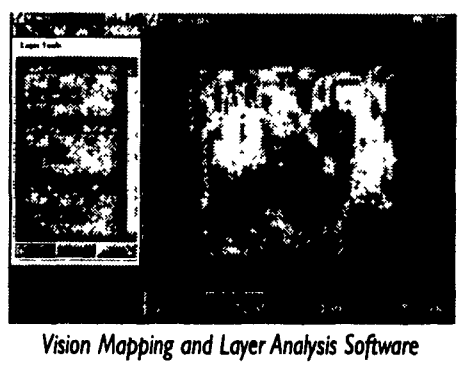
THE VISION SYSTEM™



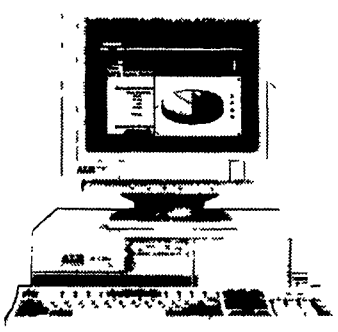
Grid Sampling Equipment



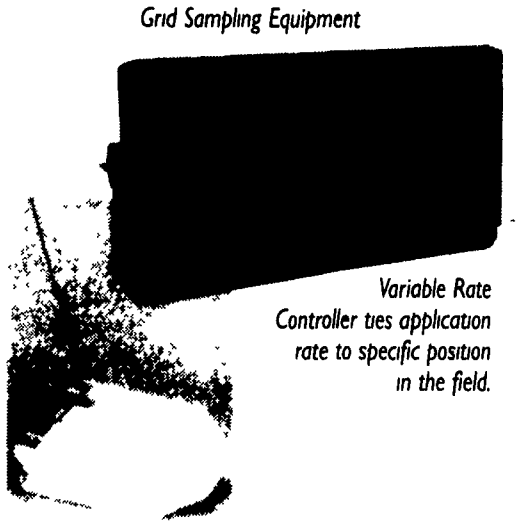
The Vision Computer Display serves as the "brain" of THE VISION SYSTEM components, placing knowledge at your fingertips.



Vision Mapping and Layer Analysis Software



Personal Computer Pentium 120



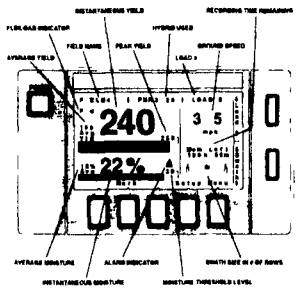
Variable Rate Controller ties application rate to specific position in the field.

The Vision System Receiver features a differential GPS receiver designed by Rockwell for American soldiers.

The vision system mapping and analysis software will let you or your dealer analyze all the information collected by your system and all the information brought in from outside sources (soil type, weather, variety, etc.).

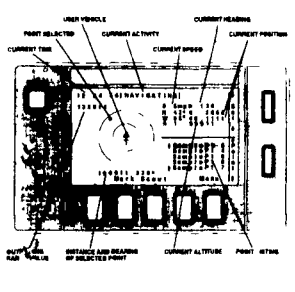
Example: "Show me areas in field 24 where yield is between 100 bu/a and 150 bu/a and organic matter is less than 3% and potassium level is less than 100 lbs/a and phosphorus level is less than 60 lbs/a and pH is less than 6.0". You can then write a prescription to apply a material or set a seed rate whenever your equipment is in this defined area of field 24.

The vision system will let you:



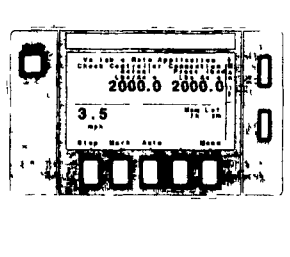
In the combine

Log your ag leader yield monitor data and tie it to real time global position information to create yield maps that will surprise you.



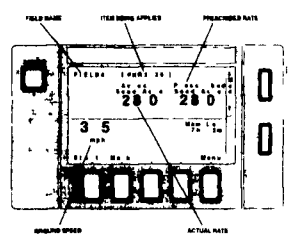
On the four wheeler

Navigate to exact points in your fields to take soil samples where you have identified unexplained changes in yield.



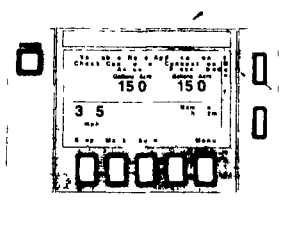
In the spreader truck

Apply lime, or dry or liquid fertilizer at different rates as you move across your field to improve efficiency and reach yield goals.



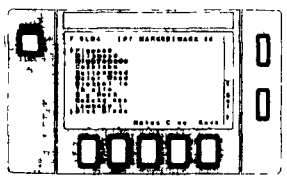
In the tractor

Plant seed at variable rates as you move down the row to areas with different yield potential.



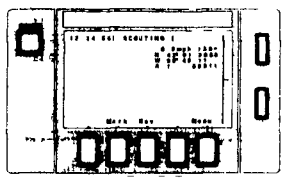
In the sprayer

Apply herbicides and pesticides at variable rates to put them where you need them at environmentally and economically sound rates



On any vehicle

Mark and map any weeds, insects, stump holes, broketiles, wet spots, or anything else at any time during any operation.



On the four wheeler

Map your farm with field boundaries, houses, roads, ditches, creeks and compute appropriate acres and distances.

GVM precision Ag Division can handle all your precision farming needs

From AG leader yield monitors to soil sampling equipment to variable rate spreaders to pentium computers.

AN APPENDIX

If a window of opportunity appears, don't pull down the shade.

— Tom Peters

At times I get this awfully painful burning sensation in my belly.

Sometimes the pain flares up shortly after I've eaten a large bowl of spaghetti or lasagna with garlic salt. That's when I take a couple of antacid tablets to reduce the severity of my heartburn.

On the other hand, the intense burning sensation happened the other day out of the blue. I hadn't eaten any spicy food, so I ruled out heartburn. Then it occurred to me that maybe I had a problem with my appendix. Yes, my appendix; the narrow, blind tube usually about three or four inches long that extends from the cecum in the lower right hand part of the abdomen.

Maybe the only solution was to have an appendectomy, and the thought of surgery made shivers go up and down my spine.

Well, enough about me, and you're probably wondering where all of this is leading. Which two of the following are true?

1) For a period during the 1980s, the American Shorthorn Association opened their herdbooks, enabling the appendix registry of Shorthorn-crossbred cattle.

2) From 1985 to 1990, Dorset breeders were able to register Dorset x Columbia crossbred sheep with the Continental Dorset Club provided that Columbia influence did not exceed 50 percent and Dorset breed type was maintained.

3) From 1988 to 1992, Landrace and Chester White crossbred pigs were registered with the Landrace and Chester White swine breed associations in a cross-referenced appendix registry program.

4) As of March 1, 1996, the National Spotted Swine Registry (NSSR) began accepting fullblood Pietrain x Spotted pigs in an appendix registry, provided that the hogs conform to Spotted breed characteristics (ears down and of reasonable size, black and white or any combination, etc.), and a few other specified regulations.

Numbers 2) and 3) are FALSE! Numbers 1) and 4) are TRUE! Simply because numbers 2) and 3) are false does not mean that they did not occur.

What are the differences among the four scenarios?

For scenarios 1) and 4), registration of crossbred animals was or is legal as specified by the respective breed associations; whereas, for 2) and 3), appendix registrations did not exist; therefore, registration of crossbred animals was dishonest, unethical, and illegal.

Why do we sometimes have appendix registries? A few reasons come to mind: 1) close ancestral heritage, 2) poor performance compared with other breeds, 3) renew interest in and increase income for the breed association, and 4) to legalize past, current, and future mating schemes among breeds of similar physical characteristics and markings.

First, in certain breeds with relatively few breeders and a limited purebred genetic pool, there may come a time when a considerable percentage of the animals in that breed become closely related. With the negative impact of inbreeding on certain production traits, outcrossing is necessary.

If outcrossing within the breed is not possible, then legalized crossbreeding may be one of a limited number of alternatives. One example of what I would term as "outcrossing within a breed" is the recent influx of European and Canadian genetics into American swine breeding programs.

European Large White pigs or semen was imported and used on American Yorkshires. This influx of new genetic resources provided a "boost" to American Yorkshires, and effectively represented legalized crossbreeding (or line crossing) of two unrelated strains/lines within the same breed. The same example could be made for Canadian Durocs, Swedish Hampshires, German Landrace, and a few cattle and sheep breeds, also.

Second, an appendix registration program may be employed as a tool to improve performance of animals compared with other breeds. For instance, Pietrain swine are extremely lean and heavily muscled; whereas the lean composition of Spotted swine has not maintained its competitiveness with other more popular and numerous breeds where selection pressure is more intense and genetic diversity within a breed is more extreme.

So the "opening to Pietrain" of the NSSR herdbook may improve performance of Spotted hogs compared with other breeds, and improve purebred market share of the breed.

Third, some purebred breed associations are not as financially sound as they once were. An infusion of funds for registration of crossbred hogs for a limited period may be needed to keep the breed registry financially solvent.

As performance of the "legalized crossbred" pigs improves, so too should interest in and use of the breed in traditional crossbreeding programs. These may be the only means of saving the breed and its association or registry.

Fourth, if two distinctly different breeds have similar distinguishing characteristics (for example, Dorsets and Columbias, Pietrains, and Spots, etc.) there are those few unethical breeders (I refuse to refer to them as "purebred breeders") who will knowingly and intentionally crossbreed animals to gain a competitive and monetary advantage.

A noted, outstanding and well-respected breeder of purebred swine once told me that "the pedigree and registration papers of an animal are only as legitimate and honest as the person who completed the paperwork."

What function does an appendix have? In the human body, I'm not sure that anybody knows what functions are performed by that "blind, narrow" tube. If your appendix flares up or ruptures, you'll need an appendectomy.

In a purebred breed association, the functions and purposes of an appendix registry are many. Some may view an appendix registry as a "blind, narrowly focused" attempt toward some other goal. Still, others may view it with optimism and enthusiasm. It may be simply to legalize current practices or legalize the inevitable, but in either case we don't necessarily need an appendectomy, we need to breed better purebred livestock and maintain honesty and ethics in doing so.

Farm Safety At Young Farmer Meeting

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Did you know that there were 210 farm production work accidents from 1990-1994?

Bob Anderson from the Penn State Cooperative Extension gave a refresher course to approximately 35 Ephrata area young farmers on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at Fred and Tammy Weaver's Farm.

Anderson emphasized to the EAYF how dangerous agricultural farming can be and how important farm safety is.

Anderson distributed to Penn State Cooperative Extension Circular 424. The circular illustrates the most common and dangerous accidents that occur each year and how to avoid them. The publication is available to the public by contacting the extension office at (717) 394-6851.

The next EAYF meeting is Tuesday, Sept. 10, at the Ephrata Senior High School. All EAYF events are free and open to the public.

For more information, contact Dori C. Brunken, coordinator, at (717) 859-3276.

HERE'S THE STRAIGHT SCOOP ABOUT RICHARDTON HIGH DUMP WAGONS

Seems like some folks are always trying to catch up. And sometimes they'll do just about anything to get ahead. But you know that for over 35 years Richardton high dump wagons have been the best in the business and in the field. So get the best —Hitch up a Richardton Wagon today.

What the competition says about Richardton Wagons	The truth about Richardton High Dump Wagons
Cylinders and cables	Our exclusive patented lock cylinders ensure that the box won't tip over. Our cable system allows you to top off a truck load with a partial dump. You're not restricted to a full dump cycle. And, you save time because there are no master/slave cylinders to purge.
Over two minute cycle time	ALL cycle times depend on your tractor's hydraulic system! We designed our wagon to cycle in less than one minute.
12GA. steel on entire hopper	Our 12GA. steel construction is absolutely the most cost effective and strongest on the market. It's that way today and it's been that way for over 35 years.
Internal braces welded to flat steel	We'll say it again — Richardton wagon components are the strongest and best built on the market!
300# rated standard black pipe fittings	Flared hydraulic steel tubing with 5,000 PSI rated fittings are standard on Richardton wagons
¼ " wall material	Our ¼ " walls withstand decades of hard use. And, just so you know, we use 5/16" where necessary.
3½ " x 3½ " slide tubes, steel on steel	Others copy our original heavy duty nylon no-grease slide system. There is NO metal on metal at any time!

RICHARDTON Manufacturing Company

- Honesty
- Tough, durable wagons
- A fair price
- The industry leader others imitate

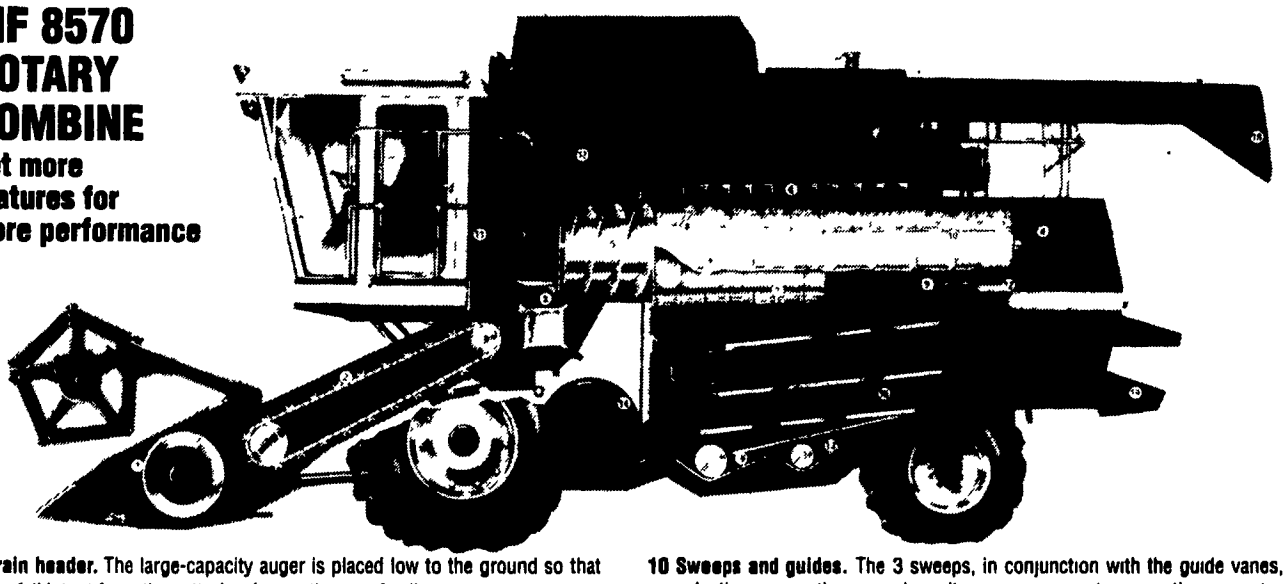
MF 8570 ROTARY COMBINE

Get more features for more performance



1 Grain header. The large-capacity auger is placed low to the ground so that crops fall into it from the cutterbar for gentle, sure feeding.

2 Feed elevator. Wide, 44-inch width matches the exceptional rotor capacity Offset, U-shaped slats are stronger, longer-lasting and bolted on for easy placement The front drum floats for optimum performance An electric-over-hydraulic header reverser provides a convenient way for the operator to quickly remove an overload of material from the header and feeder elevator.

3 Front feed beater. Patented beater accelerates crop into the rotor for more efficient threshing, and less crop damage and component wear.

4 Rotor drive. Exclusive high-torque, hydrostatic drive has a unique, in-cab reversible action feature. Rotor speeds up to 1010 RPM are set from the cab.

5 Rotor intake. "Full-Circle" feeding to the sets of auger flighting starts the crop on its spiral path through the threshing and separating areas This provides optimum feeding performance and capacity, for more combine throughput

6 Guide vanes. Guide vanes provide axial flow which ensures multiple-pass threshing and separating and the right crop dwell time for clean, undamaged grain samples.

7 Concaves. Exceptional concave area, plus the rubbing and impact action of the rotor, lets you set wider concave clearances for complete, non aggressive threshing with minimal grain damage of all crops. Replaceable concave sections and standard blank off plates make it easy to adapt to specific needs and crops.

8 Threshing lobes and rasp bars. The 3 unique helical threshing lobes and 3 sets of rasp bars smooth out and thresh the crop. Rotor knives can be added or removed for weedy and green-crop conditions.

9 Separating. There are 2,241 sq. in. (1,46 sq. m) of separating area. Open, rod-and-bar-design grates let kernels easily fall through to the separator pan, while straw is discharged Adjustable deflector plates spread the grain evenly over the grain pan for superior cleaning

10 Sweeps and guides. The 3 sweeps, in conjunction with the guide vanes, provide the crop with an axial, multi-pass movement across the separator grate while giving it rearward direction

11 Grain sample door in grain tank. A chute from the bubble-up auger to a convenient access door in the front side of the grain tank makes it easy to confirm sample quality.

12 Direct discharge. Patented system exhausts the crop residue directly from the rotor, elimination the complication and power requirements of an extra beater

14 Cleaning fan. The speed of this large-diameter fan can be set from 267-850 RPM while on the go from the cab An optional low-speed pulley allows speed from 200-271 RPM for harvesting light-seed crops.

15 Pressurized cleaning shoe. Opposing action of chaffer and sieve eliminates spearing. Total are is 6,426 sq in (4 15 sq m). An optional side-hill attachment prevents sideways migration

16 Clean grain auger. A large clean grain auger, 10-in. (25,cm) grain elevator and large tank fill auger can handle your heaviest yielding crops

17 227 bu. grain tank. Perforated tank extension can be folded down for 148 in. (3.7) transport and storage height. A perforated panel behind the cab gives the operator a clear view into the grain tank, plus a full-tank sensor with an in-cab display alerts the operator of a 95%-full tank.

18 Turret unloader. Electro-hydraulic swing, high clearance and extra-long reach give you 5-ft. (1 5 m) clearance beyond a 30 ft (9 m) grain table for easy, on-the-go unloading in approximately 2 minutes.

19 Straw Chopper (optional). The 2-speed, fully adjustable chopper slides back for easy access and for windrowing A unique chaff spreader door is standard equipment allowing a portion of the chaff to spread with the rotor discharge material. A fine-cut kit is available Optional straw spreader distributes crop residue without chopping to save fuel

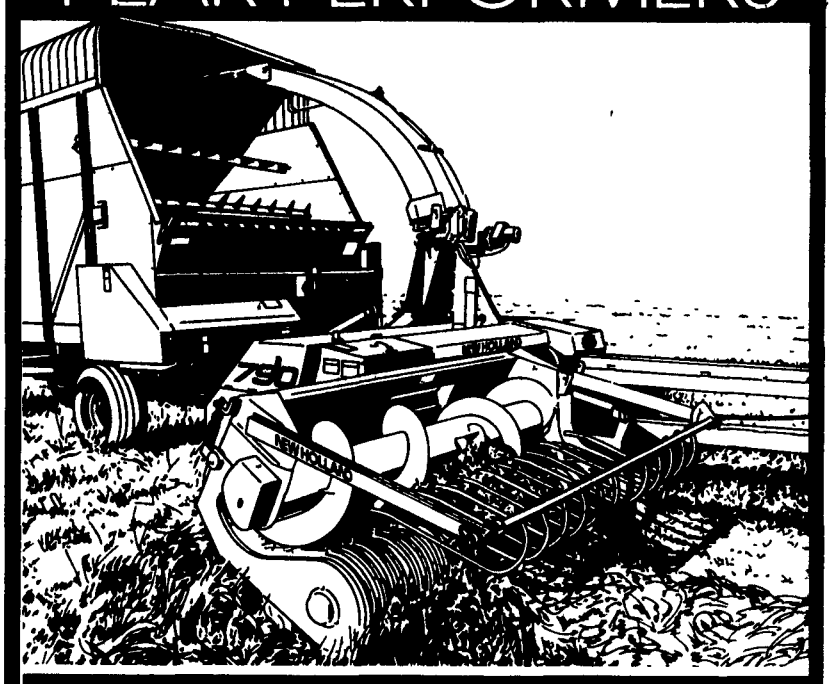
PEAK PERFORMERS



READY WHEN YOU ARE

Durable. Dependable. Powerful. New Holland forage harvesters will be there when you need them, so you can harvest your crop on time, season after season.

Four power-driven feedrolls carry materials into the cutterhead for an even, controlled cut, and the rugged 12-knife cutterhead delivers a fine uniform chop.

New Holland forage harvesters. Ready when you are.

NEW HOLLAND

SAVE TIME

WHIRL-A-FEED® SPINNING ACTION

The New Holland Model 40 forage blower saves you time at the silo. This 1000-rpm blower features a 48-inch diameter hopper that center-fills silos 80 feet and higher. The Whirl-a-Feed® rotary table spins crops into the blower housing, and material gets off to a fast start up the blower pipe. Spinning action breaks up heavy clumps, and virtually eliminates plugging. There's less drag on the fan, and more efficient use of the tractor's horsepower.

Find out how to save time with the Model 40 from New Holland.

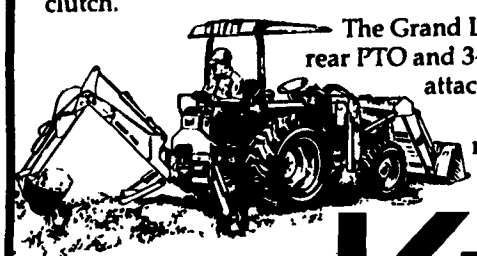
KUBOTA CUTS YOU A DEAL
90 DAYS - SAME AS CASH
ON APPROVED CREDIT THROUGH AUGUST 31, 1996 ON THE T, G AND GF SERIES

THE ONLY THING SHAKING IS THE COMPETITION

Introducing Kubota's new Grand L-Series diesel tractors. Four compact models with 25 to 37 PTO HP. Designed to take on any job that demands power and mobility.

Available in 2WD and 4WD, the Grand L-Series features Kubota's new ETVCS diesel engines that run quiet with cleaner emissions. Operator friendly with power steering, tilt wheel and enclosed muffler for greater visibility. The roomy flat operator's deck is ISO mounted to greatly reduce vibration.

The Grand L-Series has a choice of transmissions, the new fully synchronized main transmission with Synchro-Shuttle allowing shifting-on-the-go through the 4 main gears or the new GST (Glide Shift Transmission) which allows shifting-on-the-go through all 8 speeds, both run smoothly and efficiently with the new larger diameter, larger capacity clutch.



The Grand L-Series powerful hydraulic system, independent rear PTO and 3-point hitch hook up to a wide range of quick-attach implements to handle any job.

Kubota's Grand L-Series gives you power, mobility and a smooth quiet ride.
